Protests Greet Decision To Let
Japan Try GIJapanese Judge
Pledges Girard
To Get Fair Trial

MAEBASHI, Japan, Wednesday, June 5 (AP)—A Japanese judge pledged today that GI William Girard, whom the U. S. government is turning over for trial in his court on a manslaughter charge, will get a fair hearing.

"For the sake of good relations between Japan and America... we shall conduct a fair trial," said the judge, Chief Dist. Justice Yuzo Kawachi.

"If the U. S. authorities really want it, we will consider starting in late June. I will decide the date of the trial in consultation with defense counsel when they are named."

Associate Judges Teizo Saikawa and Takashi Hirata have already been named to sit with Kawachi at the trial of Girard, 21, U. S. Army specialist from Ottawa, Ill., accused of "inflicting bodily injury causing death" of a Japanese metal scavenger, Mrs. Naka Sakai, 46, on a U. S. firing range Jan. 30. Mrs. Sakai was killed by an empty cartridge case fired in warning at a group of scavengers from a rifle grenade launcher.

Teamster Boss
Pleads Innocent
To Tax Evasion

TACOMA, Wash., June 4 (AP)—The firmly spoken words, "Not guilty, not guilty, your honor," was the elder Dave Beck's answer today to government charges he lied about his income taxes in 1950.

The Teamsters Union president's answer was given in proceedings before U. S. Dist. Court Judge George H. Boldt lasting five minutes. Beck was arraigned on two counts of income tax evasion and fraud in an indictment returned by a federal grand jury May 2. Beck will remain free on $50,000 bond pending trial.

Judge Boldt said the trial date will be set "by the clerk of the court in due course." Beck waived reading of the indictment.

Legal circles have forecast the trial will be in late autumn. In September, the international convention of the Teamsters Union, whose presidency Beck has said he will relinquish, will be held. Beck's term expires in December, when he will receive a $50,000 annual pension.

United States Atty. Charles P. Moriarty of Seattle represented the government.

Beck was charged specifically with failing to pay $56,420 in taxes on $88,828 of unreported 1950 income for which he and his wife filed a joint return. The second count stated that he aided in preparing a fraudulent tax return that year for the Teamsters' Joint Council No. 28 Building Assn. in Seattle, and that a much larger amount than the reported $16,718 was spent for building payments and alterations.

In event of a conviction, each count carries a maximum sentence of five years imprisonment and or a $10,000 fine.

Dulles, Wilson
Say President
Fully Informed

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration announced today that it is going through with its decision to let Japan try an American soldier for killing a Japanese woman.

The action pleased Japan and angered congressional critics. A joint statement by Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson indicated that the decision was made with concern for (1) Japanese pressures to take over the case and (2) angry frictions generated elsewhere in the Far East by the presence of American armed forces.

Specifically, the announcement said that the decision was necessary "to preserve the integrity of the pledges of the United States" which had previously agreed that Japan should try the GI.

The case arose out of the shooting of Jan. 30 of a 46-year-old woman, Naka Sakai while she was gathering scrap metal on a firing range used by American forces. She was hit by an empty brass rifle shell case fired from a grenade launcher.

The soldier accused of the shooting is William Girard, 21, an Army specialist from Ottawa, Ill. Girard was on duty at the time, having been assigned by his platoon leader to guard a machine gun together with another GI. The Wilson-Dulles statement said that "firing empty shell cases from the rifle grenade launcher was not authorized."

The United States with Japan, as with many other countries, where U. S. forces are stationed, a "status of forces" agreement providing trial by the local government rather than by American courts in specified circumstances. Under this agreement the United States had told Japan on May 16 that it agreed to a Japanese trial for Girard.

Japanese judicial authorities then indicted Girard on a charge of causing a death by wounding. This carries a potential penalty on conviction of two to 15 years imprisonment. The statement today said it was "the least serious homicide charge for which he could have been indicted under Japanese law."

Wilson subsequently delayed turning over Girard to Japanese authorities for trial pending a full review of the case. Meanwhile tensions built up here and in Japan over what the final decision of the United States would be.

Dulles as well as Wilson participated in the review and the White House said that President Eisenhower was fully informed of the outcome.

At the Capitol the Girard case decision was greeted with immediate criticism and demands for at least a restudy of the status of forces agreements.

Bus Kills Nine

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, June 4 (AP)—The brakes on a bus failed last night and it crashed into a sidewalk crowd and then into a bar. Nine persons on the sidewalk and two in the bar were killed in the accident at Villa Massei in Sao Paulo State. Bus passengers escaped injury.

Geneticists See
Nuclear Fallout
Peril In Future

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Congress heard testimony from scientists today that atomic weapons tests could wreck the health, or shorten the lives, of thousands if not millions of persons—and may cost mankind a million babies in generations to come.

One of the scientific witnesses, Dr. Bentley Glass, an adviser to the Atomic Energy Commission, said today that the danger to future generations may have been seriously underestimated.

"The increasing tempo of weapons testing in 1957 will certainly make a re-evaluation necessary," Glass told a Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee.

Geneticists Testify

The group is looking into the dangers of radioactive fallout, or "hot" droppings from atomic explosions. AEC says these are far below the danger level now. Some scientists have agreed, others have raised questions.

Today's witnesses were geneticists—specialists in what may happen to generations yet unborn. All agreed that untold thousands of lives may be shortened or at least damaged by continued testing of nuclear weapons.

One scientist, Dr. James F. Crow of the University of Wisconsin, said testing as now conducted may cost mankind a million children—stillborn, lost in miscarriages, or victims of death in early infancy—in the long run.

"Very Rough Guess" Crow offered the figure as "a very rough guess" covering the next 100 or so generations.

He said the degree of damage to future generations "will be a very small fraction of the total human death, disease and misery."

Crow went on to say, however, that it is certain "several thousands, or perhaps more, persons will be diseased, or deformed, or will die prematurely, or be otherwise impaired as a consequence of fallout if the present rate of testing continues."

Dr. Hermann J. Muller of Indiana University said the number of lives impaired by tests already held "is in all probability in the hundreds of thousands, or millions."

Plane Spots Mayflower

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 4 (AP)—Mayflower II was sighted today by a U. S. Coast Guard plane 230 miles southwest of Bermuda. It was dead on course and making five knots.

The copy of the Mayflower that carried the Pilgrims to America in 1620 is duplicating that famous passage.

Junior Beck
Seizes Cue
From FatherMay Face Contempt
Action After Taking
Fifth Amendment

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Seizing a cue from his father, the Teamsters Union president, Dave Beck Jr. harricaded himself behind the Fifth Amendment today and balked at saying whether he pocketed union funds.

In the end, the younger Beck and Joseph McEvoy, a cousin by marriage, were confronted with the possibility of prosecution for contempt of Congress.

They drew a severe tongue lashing from Senate rackets investigators on grounds they had invoked the Fifth Amendment irresponsibly, capriciously and flagrantly.

Just as Dave Beck Sr. had refused to say whether he knows Junior, the son said it might tend to incriminate him to admit that he knows Senior. This brought a smile to Junior's lips and guffaws from spectators crowded into the Senate caucus room.

McClellan Mentions "Theft" In the family pattern, the younger Beck refused to tell whether the union till was tapped to buy him boats, TV sets and a "thing-amajig" for a camera, to set him up in the beer business in Seattle, or to keep him on the union payroll for $69,000 in salary and expenses for three years while he did no union work.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the committee, spoke of some of the transactions in terms of "theft."

Beck Jr. clung to the Fifth Amendment, too, in declining to say whether he cheated on his income tax returns for 1954, 1955 and 1956 or whether the union paid his expenses while he played hide and seek for two months with Senate subpoena servers. He and McEvoy both hid out in Vancouver, British Columbia, for a while.

McEvoy Balks The Senate committee has accused Beck Sr. of misusing some $370,000 of union funds. Beck has announced he won't seek re-election as Teamster president, but said he did so largely because his wife has been ill.

The Senate committee has accused Beck Sr. of misusing some $370,000 of union funds. Beck has announced he won't seek re-election as Teamster president, but said he did so largely because his wife has been ill.

McEvoy, whose wife is a niece of Mrs. Dave Beck Sr., took the Fifth Amendment on whether he has a one-third interest in a mortgage company and insurance brokerage firm which had extensive, profitable business with the Teamsters Union.

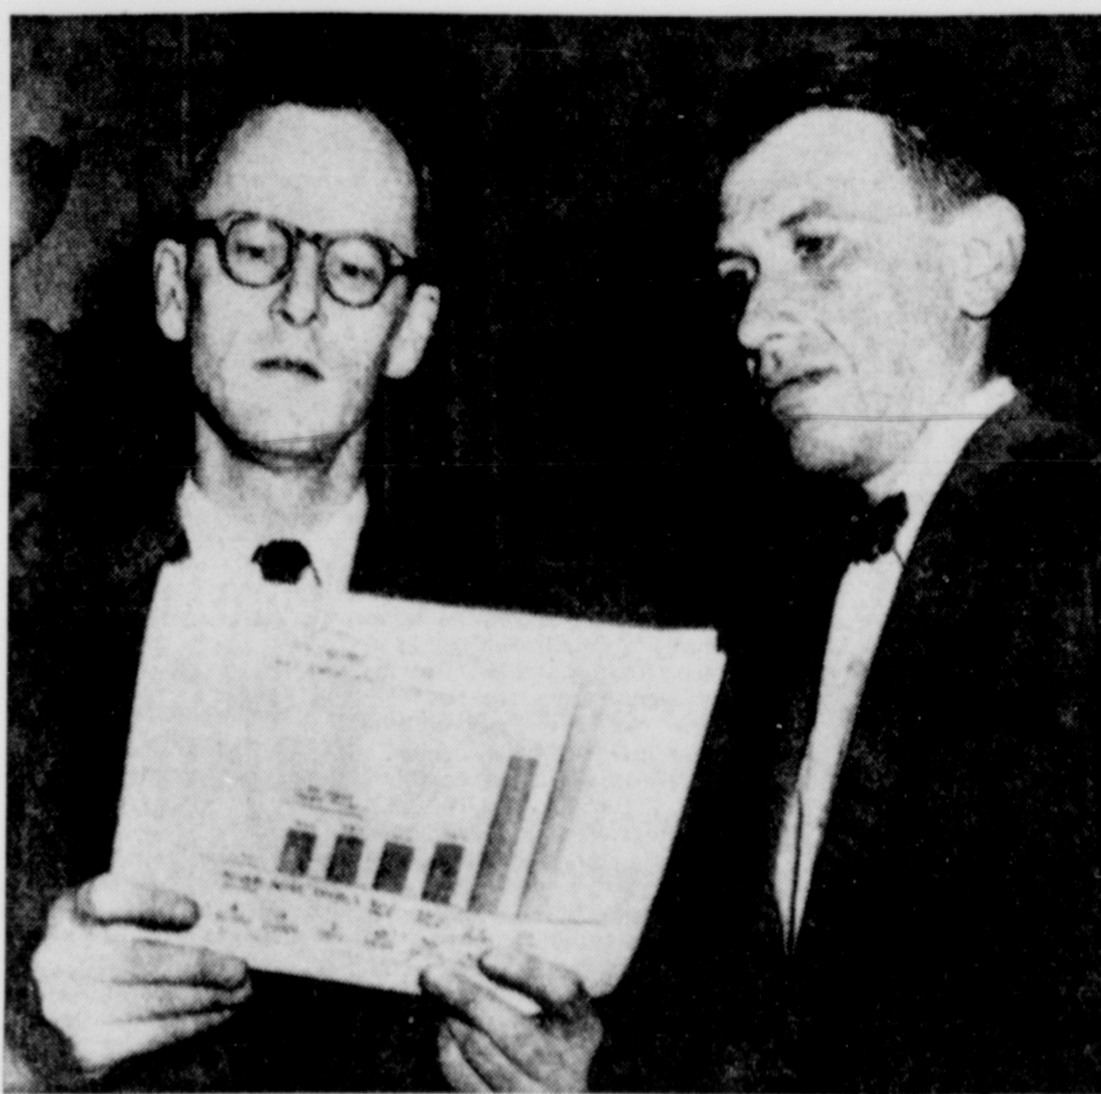

Likewise, he refused to say whether Teamster cash bought him a station wagon in 1955, whether he actually worked for the union while drawing $29,721 in salary and expenses in 1955 and 1956, and whether Beck Sr. put him on the union payroll to act as a bodyguard for Beck Jr.

Drill Instructor
Is Found Guilty

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 4 (AP)—An Air Force court-martial today convicted drill instructor William Roberts Jr. of charges of mistreating recruits.

The court-martial, meeting at Lackland Air Force Base, will hand down its sentence tomorrow. Roberts, an airman second class, was found guilty of shoving basic trainee Robert Dinsenhacher, 20, Astoria, N. Y., but was acquitted of a charge of assaulting the airman.

Roberts had been accused of striking Dinsenhacher and shoving him against a wall. Dinsenhacher died two days after the alleged incident. However, Roberts was not on trial for his death, which officially was attributed to heat exhaustion and a kidney ailment.

Supporters Cut
GOP Gifts; Feel
Budget Too Big

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Republican campaign strategists told President Eisenhower today some wealthy party backers are cutting off large gifts to the GOP because they feel Eisenhower's national budget is "too high."

Chairman Meade Alcorn of the Republican National Committee and others of the party high command gave this report to the President at a 40-minute White House conference.

The GOP leaders called on Eisenhower to present a bulky volume, bound in leather, which reported on the state of the party around the country and featured a forecast of GOP victory in next year's election battle for control of Congress and the nation's governorships.

Ike "Heard That, Too"

Alcorn told newsmen that discussion of the troubles of party fund raisers drew a comment from Eisenhower that he "had heard that, too."

The party chairman was asked just how serious the situation seems to be.

"In the long run," he replied, "I don't think it will make any difference."

He expressed confidence that balking contributors will come to share his view that there is no alternative to the administration's $71,800,000,000 spending program for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

Report On Conferences

Alcorn and his colleagues reported to Eisenhower on six regional conferences held recently by the national committee as a prelude to strategy-making for the 1958 campaign.

Eisenhower was "very enthusiastic" about the outcome of those meetings, Alcorn said, and has repeatedly told party leaders "that he will play a vital role" in next year's campaign.

Alcorn said, in reply to a question, that the President had not been specific about just how active he will be.

Queen Shows Her
Faith In Jetliner
By Taking Ride

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II sat in the copilot's seat of a Comet II jetliner flying here from Scotland tonight at 450 m.p.h.

The flight from the Leuchars Royal Air Force base to London Airport took 72 minutes. By train it normally takes 11 hours.

The Queen asked for the ride. It was display of faith in the sleek new-style four-jet airliner. British commercial aviation has pinned its hopes on.

The original Comet was taken out of service in 1954 after four disastrous crashes that were blamed on a weakness in the skin structure. The new models were redesigned to eliminate the fault.

Antinationalist
Leader, Nephew
Slain In Algeria

ALGIERS, June 4 (AP)—A prominent pro-French Moslem leader and his nephew were killed today as Arab nationalist violence heightened tension both in Algeria and France.

Khoussa Adda, former member of the now suspended Algerian Assembly, and his nephew were found burned to death in an automobile. They had been slain while driving out in the country to inspect some property. Adda was the fourth prominent antinationalist Algerian to die in recent weeks.

The deaths highlighted a day of tension following the killing of nine persons and wounding of more than 100 others by time bombs in Algiers yesterday. French police and troops have been unable to find the bomb planters.

The Mayors' Assn. of the Algerians Department sent a telegram to President Rene Coty asking for a "general mobilization" in Algeria to bring about a quicker end to the rebellion, now more than 2½ years old. There are more than 400,000 French troops in Algeria now.

NAIC Officials
Unveil Ethical Practices Code

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—State insurance commissioners today unveiled a proposed ethical practices code designed to bar excessive fees and commissions for persons handling labor union health and welfare funds.

Joseph A. Navarre, Michigan's commissioner of insurance and chairman of the National Assn. of Insurance Commissioners subcommittee on health - welfare funds, released the draft copy of the code which is to be considered at the NAIC annual meeting next week at Atlantic City.

Navarre said the code, if adopted by the state commissioners, would "become an adjunct to the state regulatory system applying to insurance." In effect, it would be a set of standards for the states.

Labor union officials, after adoption of several AFL-CIO ethical practices codes seeking to curb health-welfare fund frauds, have been twitting the insurance industry from time to time to adopt one of its own. Also, Congress is presently considering legislation to require disclosure of health-welfare fund data, including fees and commissions paid.

The proposed NAIC code says in its preamble that insurance firms, agents and brokers have generally conducted themselves in "the best traditions of the insurance business" but this "has not been true in every case."

Russia Seeks Arms
Talk Bid For India

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Soviet Russia has asked that India be invited to appear before the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee meeting in London.

Moscow radio said today the Soviet delegate, Valerian Zorin, put forward this proposal at a meeting of the five-nation subcommittee yesterday.

Rise In Federal Spending
Forecast By Economists

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—A group of economists told Congress today federal spending seems headed upward for the next five years.

They said, however, plans should be made for a tax cut as soon as the national situation permits.

The economist panel appeared before a Senate-House subcommittee studying the economic outlook.

One member, Dr. Gerhard Colm, chief economist for the National Planning Assn., said next year's budget may well hit $75,300,000,000—or 3½ billions more than the one President Eisenhower submitted for the fiscal year starting July 1.

This was unhappy news to lawmakers who have voiced hopes that this year's economy wave will have some whittling effect on the budget Eisenhower will send to Congress next January.

Eisenhower
Won't Reply
To Red BossSenator Suggests
State Dept. Request
Soviet Air Time

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower has turned down any idea of trying to answer Soviet Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev—on Russian TV-radio or in any other direct way.

But the President almost certainly will respond at a news conference tomorrow to Khrushchev's precedent-making TV interview, which was seen in this country last Sunday.

The Soviet leader said, among other things, the United States eventually will go Socialist—by which Khrushchev meant Communist—without any pushing from Russia.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference: "It has been decided that the President has no intention of answering Mr. Khrushchev."

No Offer Made By Russia

Hagerty added, in response to questions, he was talking about a reply on Russian TV or radio facilities. No offer to do so had been made to the President by the Russians, but the U. S. government could have requested such an opportunity.

The White House aide said Eisenhower himself rejected the idea of trying to make a personal reply.

He said, too, the administration hasn't decided whether to have some lesser official make a formal reply to Khrushchev or to let the matter drop.

Hagerty noted that Eisenhower holds frequent news conferences while "Mr. Khrushchev has one interview and everybody thinks we ought to make an answer."

Newberger's Proposal

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) suggested today the United States Department ask the Soviet government to allow the presentation in Russia of "a radio and television program that would be an exact parallel" of Khrushchev's in this country.

In a statement, Neuberger said he had in mind an interview either of Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles by three Russian newspaper correspondents.

He said it should be released in the Soviet Union "without censorship, deletion, jamming or alteration."

Missile Crashes
As Controls Fails

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., June 4 (AP)—A Navy guided missile went out of control today and crashed on the desert, causing an explosion heard for many miles around.

The Navy said no one was hurt and no facilities were damaged. The missile, known as the Regulus 2, crashed in the open desert.

A spokesman for the Navy said the missile did not have a warhead and the explosion was caused by the fuel it was carrying. It was under radio control but the Navy said the control failed and the missile nosed down.

Arabs Appeal To Dag

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 4 (AP)—Eleven Arab delegations and an Algerian nationalist organization today asked U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to help end violence in Algeria.

As to the budget now before Congress, Colm estimated spending in 1957-58 would be $72,800,000,000, a billion more than the President's figure. This is in line with recent estimates made independently by congressional staff experts.

No member of the panel disagreed with Colm. Edwin B. George, director of the economics department of Dun & Bradstreet, said his own calculations for the fiscal 1958 increase were about the same.

Colm predicted a budget surplus of a billion dollars for fiscal 1958, as against Eisenhower's $1,800,000,000 estimate. Colm figured a 1½ billion surplus in 1959.

[By The Associated Press]

A week of destructive flooding was a certainty for sections of the Southwest where heavy rains fell Tuesday for the fourth straight day.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the drenching had forced revisions in water level forecasts for the Red River and its tributaries in Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas.

"Flood stages now will be exceeded during the next several days from Arthur City, Tex., to Fulton, Ark., with levels of 29 to 31 feet indicated about June 9," the Weather Bureau said.

New rains dropped from one to three inches over Red River drainage areas in northeastern Texas and southeastern Oklahoma. Several small tributaries of the big river carried floodwaters into lowland areas.

Some 35 Oklahoma highways were closed due to flooding and bridge washouts. Floodwaters also crept into low areas in Texas along the Trinity and the Little River.

The Mississippi River, fed by overflowing southwestern rivers, also was approaching flood stage from Greenville, Miss., to New Orleans. Some minor flooding is expected along the Mississippi in this area next week.

There was widespread overflowing below Shreveport, La., near Alexandria, La., on the Red River.

Court To Rule On Baltimore Industry Tax

ANNAPOLIS, June 4 (P)—Maryland's highest court was asked today to rule on the validity of Baltimore's new tax on manufacturers.

Seven attorneys spent more than three hours presenting the $11,000,000 question to the Court of Appeals as two cases originally set for next September were advanced for special hearing.

The court took the cases under advisement and is expected to hand down an opinion soon, probably before June 15.

The appellant judges must either affirm or reverse a ruling by Judge S. Ralph Warnken in Baltimore Circuit Court declaring valid a city ordinance which repealed the tax exemption on manufacturers' machinery and inventory.

An affirming decision would cost Baltimore industrialists an estimated $11,000,000 in taxes they previously had escaped.

It also would allow the city to go ahead with plans for a reduction in the Baltimore property tax rate from $3.34 to $2.88 for each $100 of assessed valuation.

Hyman A. Pressman, Baltimore attorney and persistent critic of the city administration, told the high court that the Mayor and City Council "seized and usurped" the power to repeal the exemption.

Pressman, who represented Harold M. Weiss and a group of Baltimore manufacturers, argued on the interpretation of 1947 and 1951 enabling acts by which the Legislature gave the city power to grant tax exemptions and to "repeal and modify existing and future exemptions."

He said this phrase referred only to exemptions from special taxing powers granted in these two statutes and had no bearing on the manufacturers' exemptions provided under other laws.

Pressman contended the manufacturers' tax exemption statute is a public general law which the city cannot repeal or amend.

Britain Unveils 'Seaslug' Missile

LONDON, June 4 (P)—Britain today unveiled the supersonic "Seaslug," a new ship-to-air guided missile.

The British say it is capable of knocking down enemy aircraft no matter how high they fly.

It was the first time details of the "Seaslug" had been given, although its existence was announced some time ago in the House of Commons.

The announcement said the "Seaslug" is propelled by a sustainer motor and four boosters. The boosters are jettisoned after the missile passes the speed of sound.

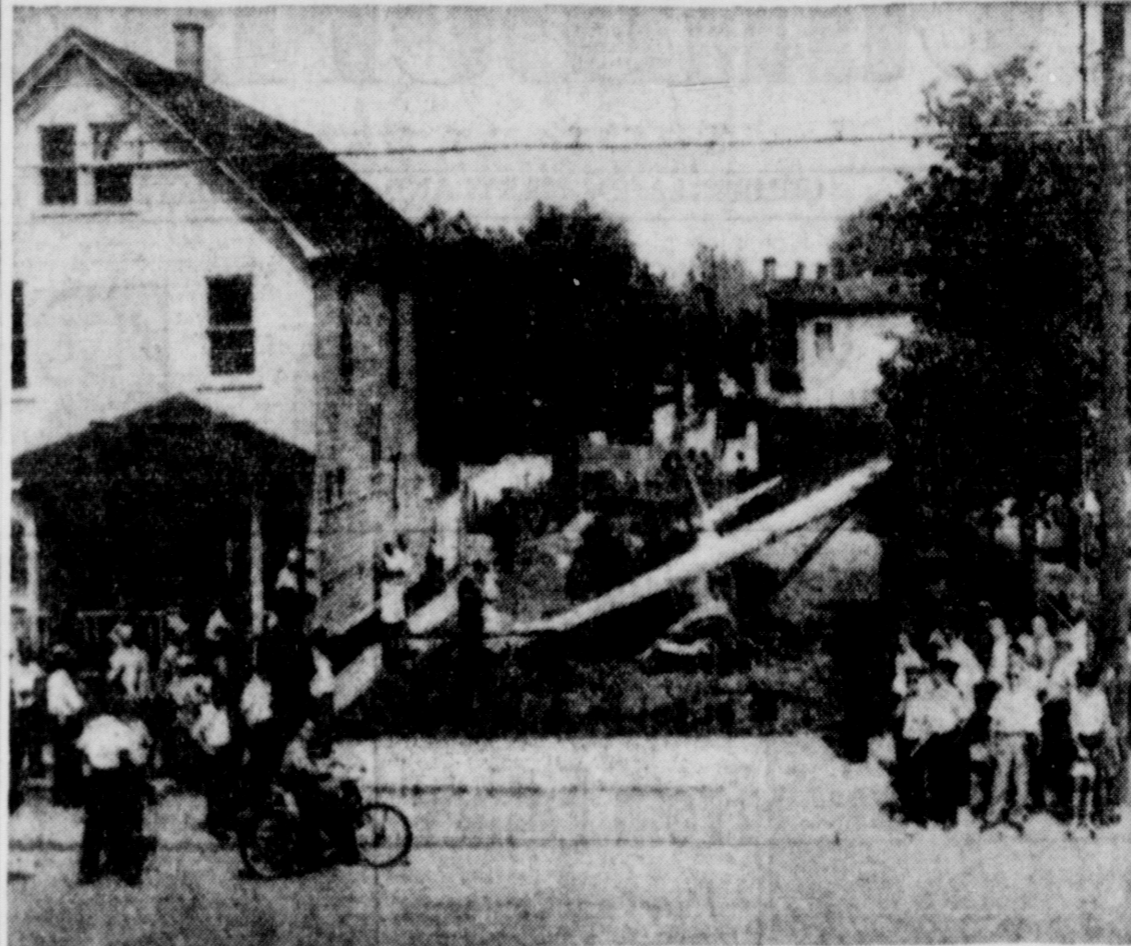

The target is plotted by radar. This information governs the position of the weapon launcher and the time of firing. No information was given on how the "Seaslug" actually tracks down its target.

Wife Slayer Pleads Guilty, Gets 18 Years

BALTIMORE, June 4 (P)—Sebastian Averella interrupted his trial today to plead guilty to second degree murder in the fatal shooting of his wife last Feb. 4.

The State, which originally had sought a first degree murder verdict, accepted the second degree plea and Judge S. Ralph Warnken immediately sentenced the 31-year-old defendant to 18 years in the State Penitentiary—the maximum penalty.

In a signed statement given police and admitted as evidence at his trial, Averella said he shot his wife while she was in bed, possibly sleeping. They had quarreled several days before, he said, when she spoke of love for another man and demanded Averella leave their home.

Negro Firemen Request Court Kill BLFE Rule

CLEVELAND, June 4 (P)—Fourteen Southern Negro railroad firemen have asked U. S. District Court here to invalidate a rule of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen (BLFE-CIO) which in effect limits membership to whites.

In the suit against BLFE, its president, H. E. Gilbert, and its secretary-treasurer, Ray Scott, the Negroes contend they are not adequately represented in collective bargaining as provided in the Railway Labor Act because they have no voice in electing the negotiators.

Homer L. Ellis, BLFE vice president told a reporter the brotherhood has no Negroes among its nearly 100,000 members in the United States, Canada and Alaska, although its contracts cover about 1,100 nonmember Negroes. He said the brotherhood has pressed claims for nonmember Negroes before the National Railway Adjustment Board.

The Negro plaintiffs direct their suit, being heard by U. S. Dist. Judge Paul Jones without a jury, at an article of the BLFE constitution which states applicants for membership shall be "white-born," among other things.

Charles Co. Officials Uphold 'Casino Ship' Liquor License

LA PLATA, Md., June 4 (AP)—Charles County officials, rejecting requests from the governors of Maryland and Virginia, refused today to revoke their approval of a liquor license for a recreation ship anchored off Freestone Point, Va.

After a hearing, the county commissioners said they could find "no just or legal reason for not issuing this license."

The ship, the old Chesapeake Bay excursion liner Tolchester, would be anchored off the Virginia shore but in the Maryland-owned Potomac River. The State line runs along the low-water mark on the Virginia side.

Gov. McKeldin of Maryland wrote a member of the Charles County commission, asking that proposals to serve liquor and operate slot machines on the vessel be denied to preserve "the good name of Maryland."

He said the operation "of this floating tavern and gambling establishment" would be "flouting the liquor and gambling laws" of Virginia, which prohibits slot machines and whisky by the drink.

Notified of the outcome of today's meeting, McKeldin said "the Charles County authorities involved... have, to put it mildly, a strange sense of justice and a distorted aptitude for legal reasoning."

"The fact that... Virginia does not approve the sale of liquor by the drink should be 'just and legal reason' enough for denying this license," he said.

"When a county's affairs are administered in the manner which creates unnecessary interstate conflicts," McKeldin said, "it becomes necessary... for the state to reexamine the laws which make possible such selfish disregard of good neighborly relations through the arbitrary acts of a single county."

There were no protests against the liquor license application at today's hearing.

Among those who said they favor it were Dr. A. J. Perlazzo, member of the board of supervisors of Prince William County, Virginia, and John Edy, a real estate broker who handles property in the area.

Perlazzo said the ship was only a small part of a 14 million dollar recreation area being built by the Freestone Holding Co. Other planned features, he told the board, included a 12-story hotel, motels, 120 cottages for rent, several swimming pools already under construction and a 1,500-foot boardwalk, also under construction.

The Virginia county official told the commissioners he expected the development to raise property values in the area, enrich the county's treasury and thereby help it meet pressing school construction needs. He said Prince William County needed additional funds for schools to educate a big influx of children belonging to workers in the Washington area, about 13 miles northeast.

"If the liquor license can help this place be successful," he said, "it is a small price for Virginia to pay."

Perlazzo said he was testifying as an individual but that the six-member board of supervisors had approved the recreation area with full knowledge that the drink-and-gamble ship would be a feature.

J. Carl Hill, head of the holding company and attorney from Arlington, Va., said the Tolchester would be converted into a restaurant with a $55,000 kitchen. He presented a menu—"iced tea 35 cents, coffee 30 cents." The lowest priced meal was $2.40 for braised beef—coffee extra.

There had been no request for slot machines, he told the commissioners. McKeldin said he understood 200 were to be installed. Hill told reporters the question of slots "will be answered in the future."

Maryland Crop Picture Mixed

COLLEGE PARK, Md., June 4 (AP)—Heavy storms that hit Maryland in the past few days brought mixed blessings to farmers.

The crop report released by the University of Maryland's agriculture extension service for the week ended June 1 showed that soil moisture was normal in the north central area, Western Maryland and extreme northern portion of the Eastern Shore.

But high winds, hail and rain severely damaged apples and peaches in orchards west of Emmitsburg to just north of Smithsburg in Washington County. Barley and some vegetable crops were also flattened by the storms.

Still in urgent need of rain were southern Maryland and most of the Delmar Peninsula.

The first cutting of alfalfa was under way in the northern third of the state and clover cutting was general throughout the area. Rains have brought out pasture land in northern counties but elsewhere they were rated "mostly poor."

The weekly crop report is released by the university in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Weather Bureau.

Road Dust Hearing Set Next Thursday

HAGERSTOWN, June 4 (AP)—A hearing has been set for next Thursday in Washington County Circuit Court on Ralph Newkirk's complaint that excavation near his home for a highway job is a nuisance.

He complained in a petition about dust and dirt he said was raised by the hauling of shale and dirt for the U.S. 11 bypass west of Hagerstown.

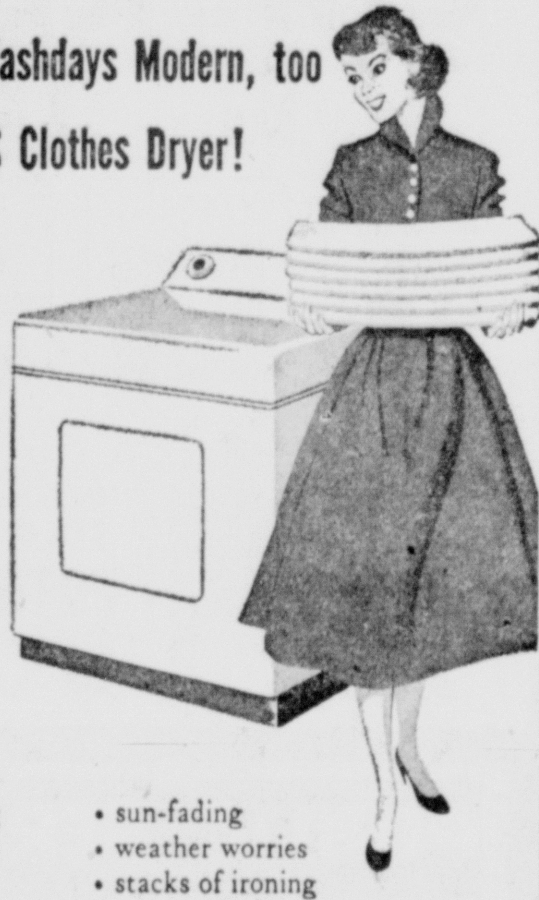

The shale and dirt are being hauled from a 50 acre tract on Maryland 63 across from Newkirk's home.

Two Baltimore firms, Lorain Construction Co., Eastern Contractors and Wright Construction Co., of Columbus, Ga., denied in an answer that they were causing clouds of dust and dirt.

They said they use calcium chloride and oil and water to settle the dust. They said their night operations are no more noisy than normal night truck traffic.

Prospectors still are searching for the Lost Dutchman gold mine in Superstition Mountain southeast of Phoenix, Arizona.

Prisoner "Unparalyzes" Himself

BALTIMORE, June 4 (AP)—"Unparalyze yourself in three seconds or I'll send you to jail for a year," Magistrate Howard Aaron told the prisoner.

The prisoner promptly "unparalyzed" himself.

John F. Henson, 53-year-old Negro, had come into court dragging a leg and with an arm twisted up. Aaron said the man had been in court three or four times about a year ago with a supposedly crippled arm. Subsequently, the magistrate said, he saw the man walking normally on the street.

Disaster Nursing Workshop Is Planned

Responsibilities of registered nurses and lay persons in disaster nursing will be the topic discussed at the workshop to be held by District 1, Maryland State Nurses Association and Civil Defense. It is to be held sometime next month, so both active and inactive nurses will be able to cooperate in a disaster. All nurses are urged to attend.

District 1 held its first disaster workshop last month, with the Civil Defense, at the Ali Ghan Country Club. District 1 is the first district in Maryland to hold a disaster workshop for nurses. William G. Barger, county CD director, gave an illustrated talk on Civil Defense in Allegany County. Shirley Ewing, Pikesville, state CD director, "Problems in CD," stressing the main problem in providing leadership, and that without the nurse a vital link would be missing. Col. ## 1947 Class Plans 15th Reunion

A 15th anniversary celebration was planned by members of the Class of 1947 of Catholic Girls Central High School, and a collection was taken for a mass for the late Mrs. Patricia Trenton, who went through the junior year with the group. Mrs. Julia Trazzo Brant was named reunion chairman.

The 10th anniversary was observed with a three-day celebration attended by 13 members of the class of 18, and one guest. Twelve of the class attended the mass and breakfast Sunday and eight the informal social Monday at the home of Mrs. Wanda Frobes Steiner, 625 Niagara Street. A picnic and outing was held at Minke's Cottage Inn Saturday and the breakfast at Antone's in the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Programs in the form of memory books were distributed. They contained the senior activities, sketches of what members are doing now, their names and addresses. It was decided to send programs and pictures taken at the reunion to those unable to attend, and to some of the former teachers.

Attending were Mrs. Dorothy Blake Harper, Mrs. Mary Campbell Duckworth, Baltimore; Mrs. Irma Jean Chambers Baker, Mrs. Joan Carroll Athey, Frederick; Mrs. Steiner, Mrs. Rose Harbaugh Miller, Miss Helen Hargott, Jersey City, N. J.; Mrs. Norma Loraditch Limberis, Greenbelt; Mrs. Betty Matthews Shaffer, Parma, Ohio; Mrs. Geraldine McGowan Livingston, Midland; Mrs. Margaret Meyers Bever, Falls Church, Va.; Mrs. Wilmina Seib Dye, Silver Spring; Mrs. Brant, and Mrs. Mildred Creegan Mattingly.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Be Gentle

Give yourself a gentle shampoo before a home permanent. With rough rubbing, you can irritate the scalp too easily. If you get any scratches on your scalp, the waving lotion can be absorbed into the skin. Then you'll get a burn.

Don't even rub hard with the bath towel . . . just press the moisture from your wet head. When a professional is giving you a permanent in a salon, you can tell if she or he is experienced by the way you're given a pre-permanent shampoo.

There are other factors in the success of a wave that a good hairdresser never overlooks in giving a permanent. Here are a few to remember:

WAVING HINTS

1. Let your hair be one-half to three-quarters of an inch longer than you intend to wear it. Then, in case the ends show kinkiness, you can trim them afterwards to achieve a soft, loose curl. If you have had a permanent before, the ends must be trimmed before the next is given.

2. Wait at least a week after tinting or dyeing . . . at least a month after surgery or after the use of an anesthetic. All weaken the hair, and often a permanent just adds to the woe.

3. Always make a test curl with the solution at the back of the head before applying it to the rest.

4. As a permanent doubles the body, heavy hair should be thinned beforehand.

5. Last but not least . . . remember that a permanent wave doesn't entitle you to sit back and do nothing with your hair until the next one.

EARTH SATELLITE

Some time soon, it is hoped, the first man-made satellite in history will be whirling in space.

The launching of the satellite — Project Vanguard — will be one of America's many contributions to the International Geophysical Year, starting July 1.

Scientists the world over will follow its progress with close interest. A huge, three-stage rocket, shot up from some point in the United States, will send the satellite on its way.

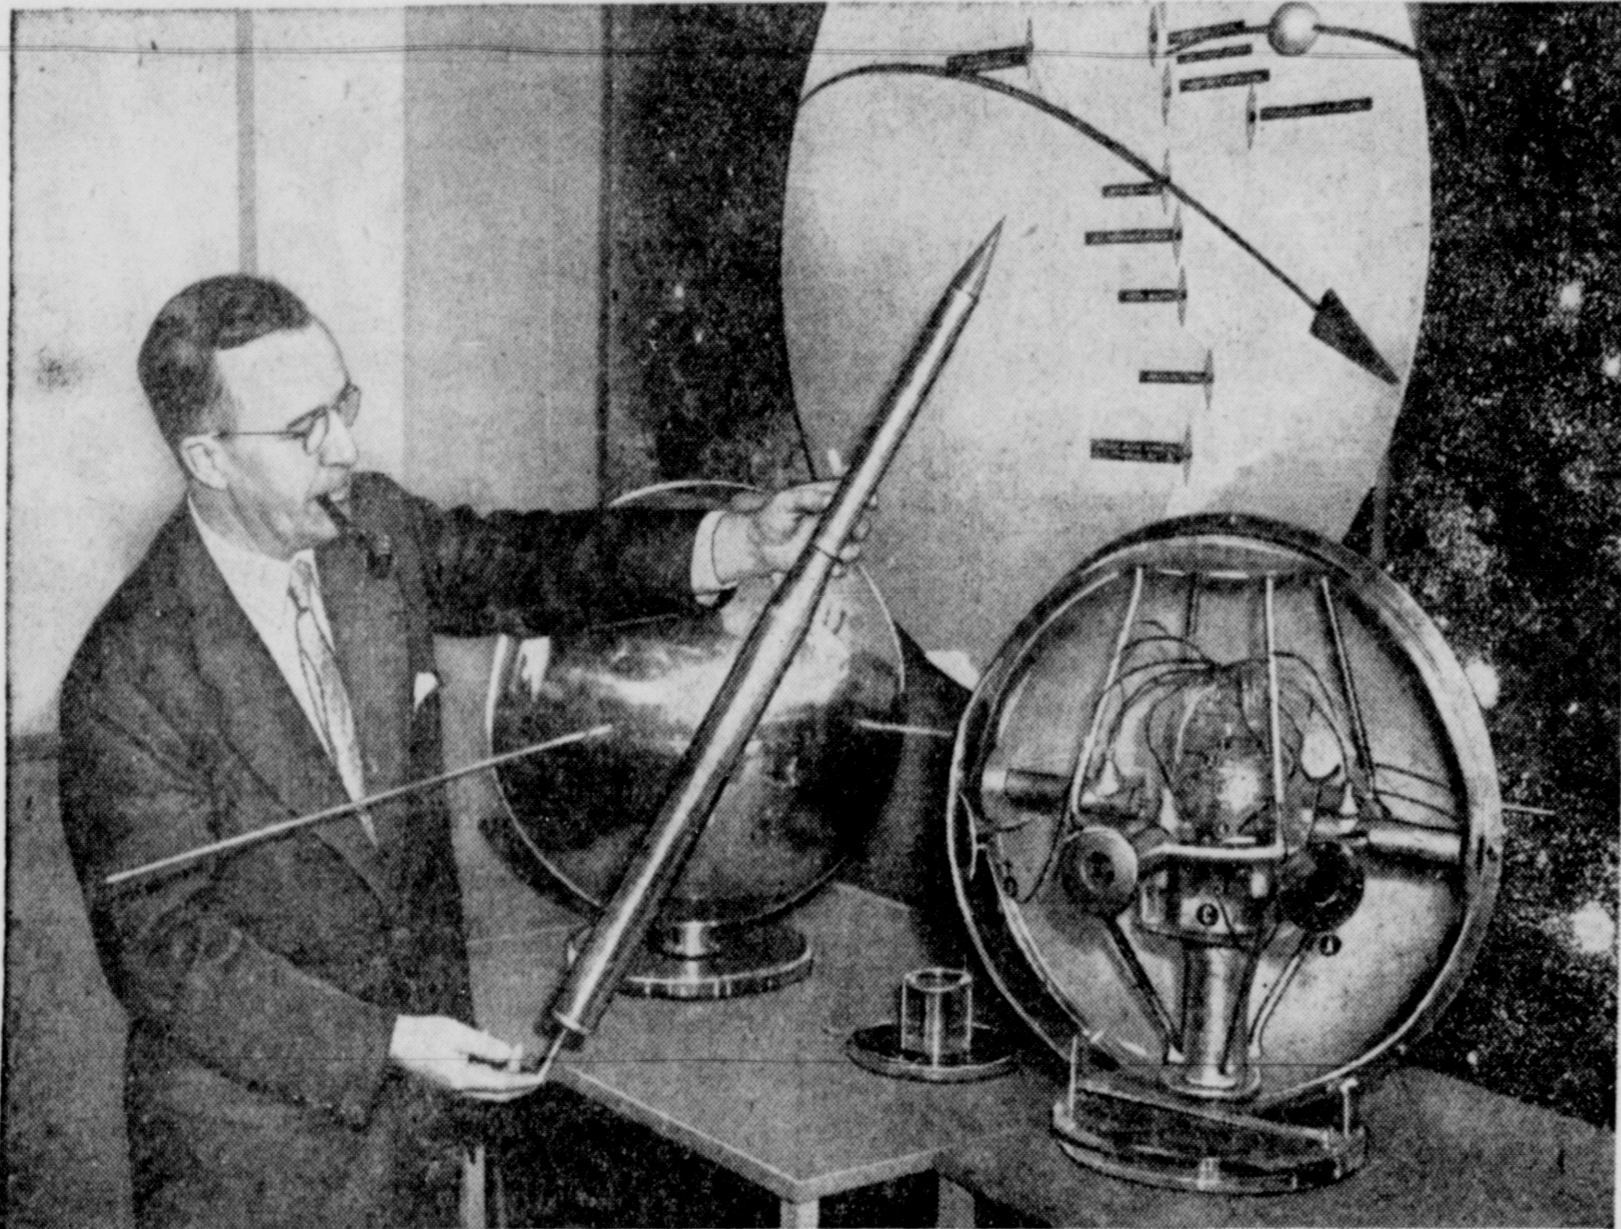

The satellite is a small metal globe. It measures 20 inches in diameter and weighs about 21 pounds, with half its weight in instruments. The third-stage rocket will fire it into space some 300 miles up where it is expected to follow an orbital path around the earth, speeding along at some 18,000 miles an hour.

Special observers the world over will arrange a "fence" of telescope sightings across the sky in an attempt to spot the missile. Batteries in the whirling globe will keep it reporting to earth for several weeks. Then the earth scientists will have to rely on their own radio wave contacts and on the observation stations.

Nobody knows how long the satellite will keep going around the earth. Guesses run from two weeks to six weeks, or far longer. It could possibly burst out of its orbit and head away from the earth; it could burn up and disintegrate as it comes back to earth. There's very little chance it might land in somebody's backyard.

Preparations for the launching are shown here.

At Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, Dr. John P. Hagen, head of Project Vanguard, holds model of rocket that will carry satellite into its orbit, the path of which is suggested in rear. At right is model of "moon."

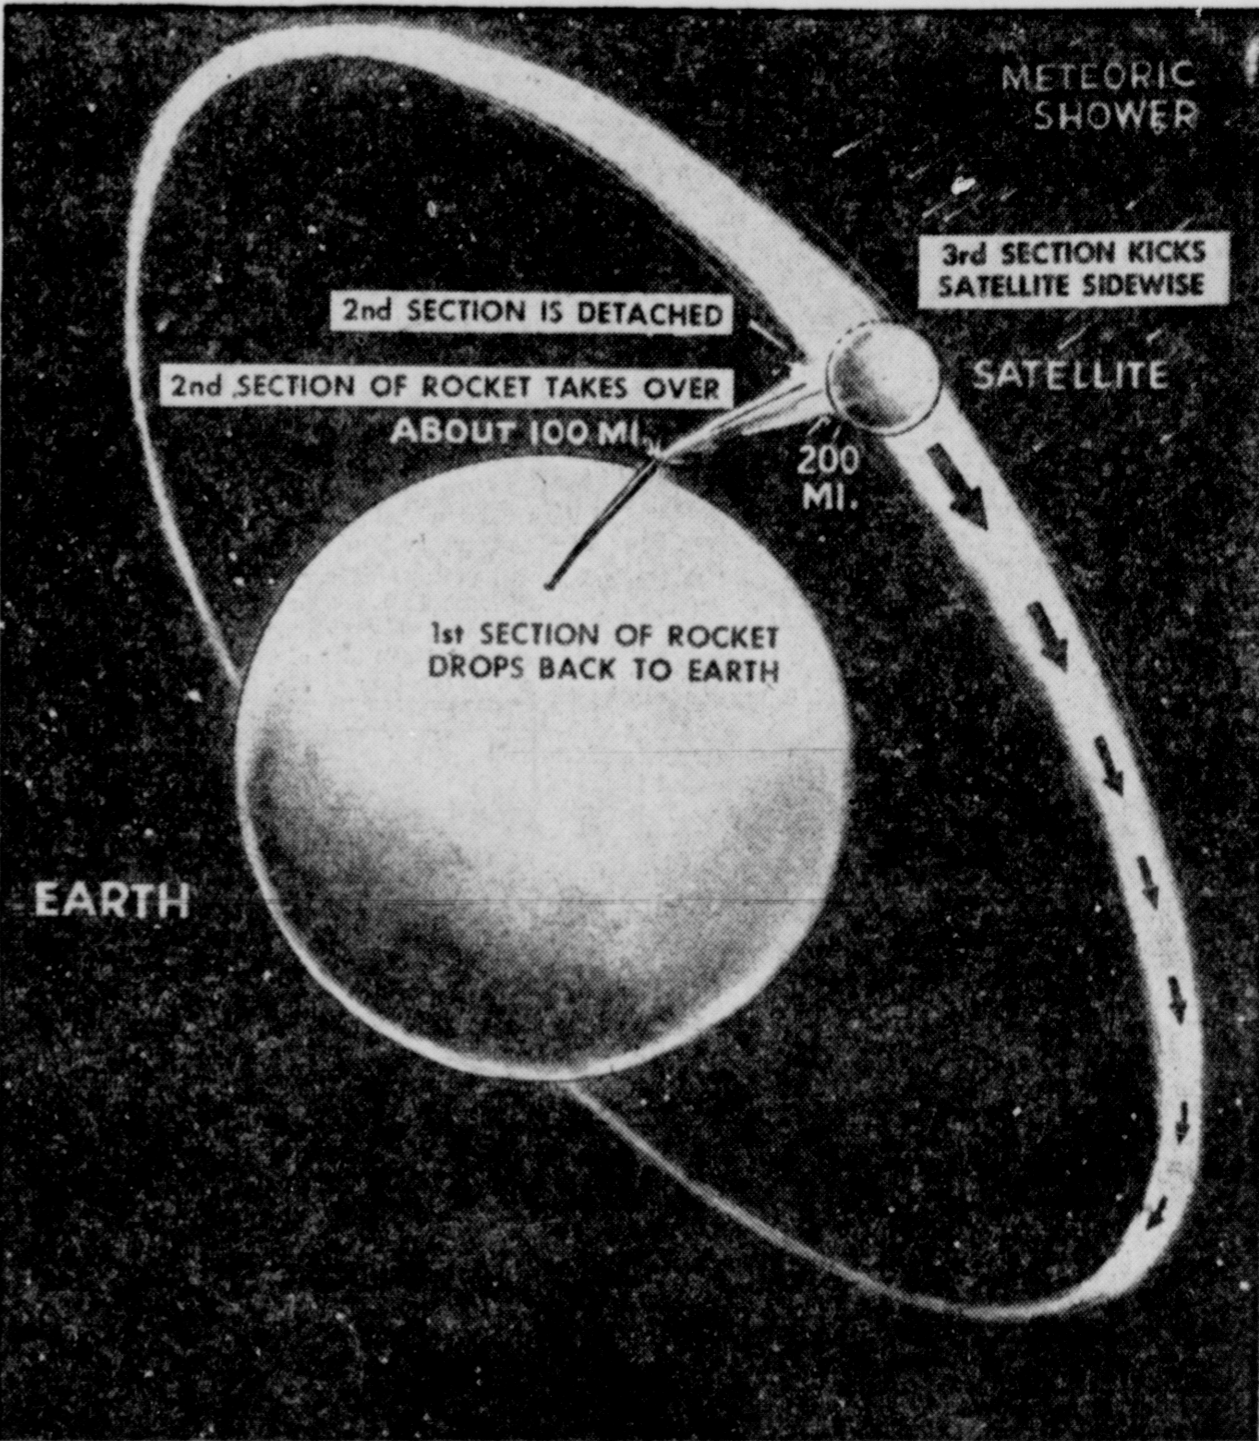

Observers who will try to spot satellite in its flight have practice session at Silver Spring, Md. There are six observers on each side of meridian mast. Manner of mounting observing telescopes can be seen.

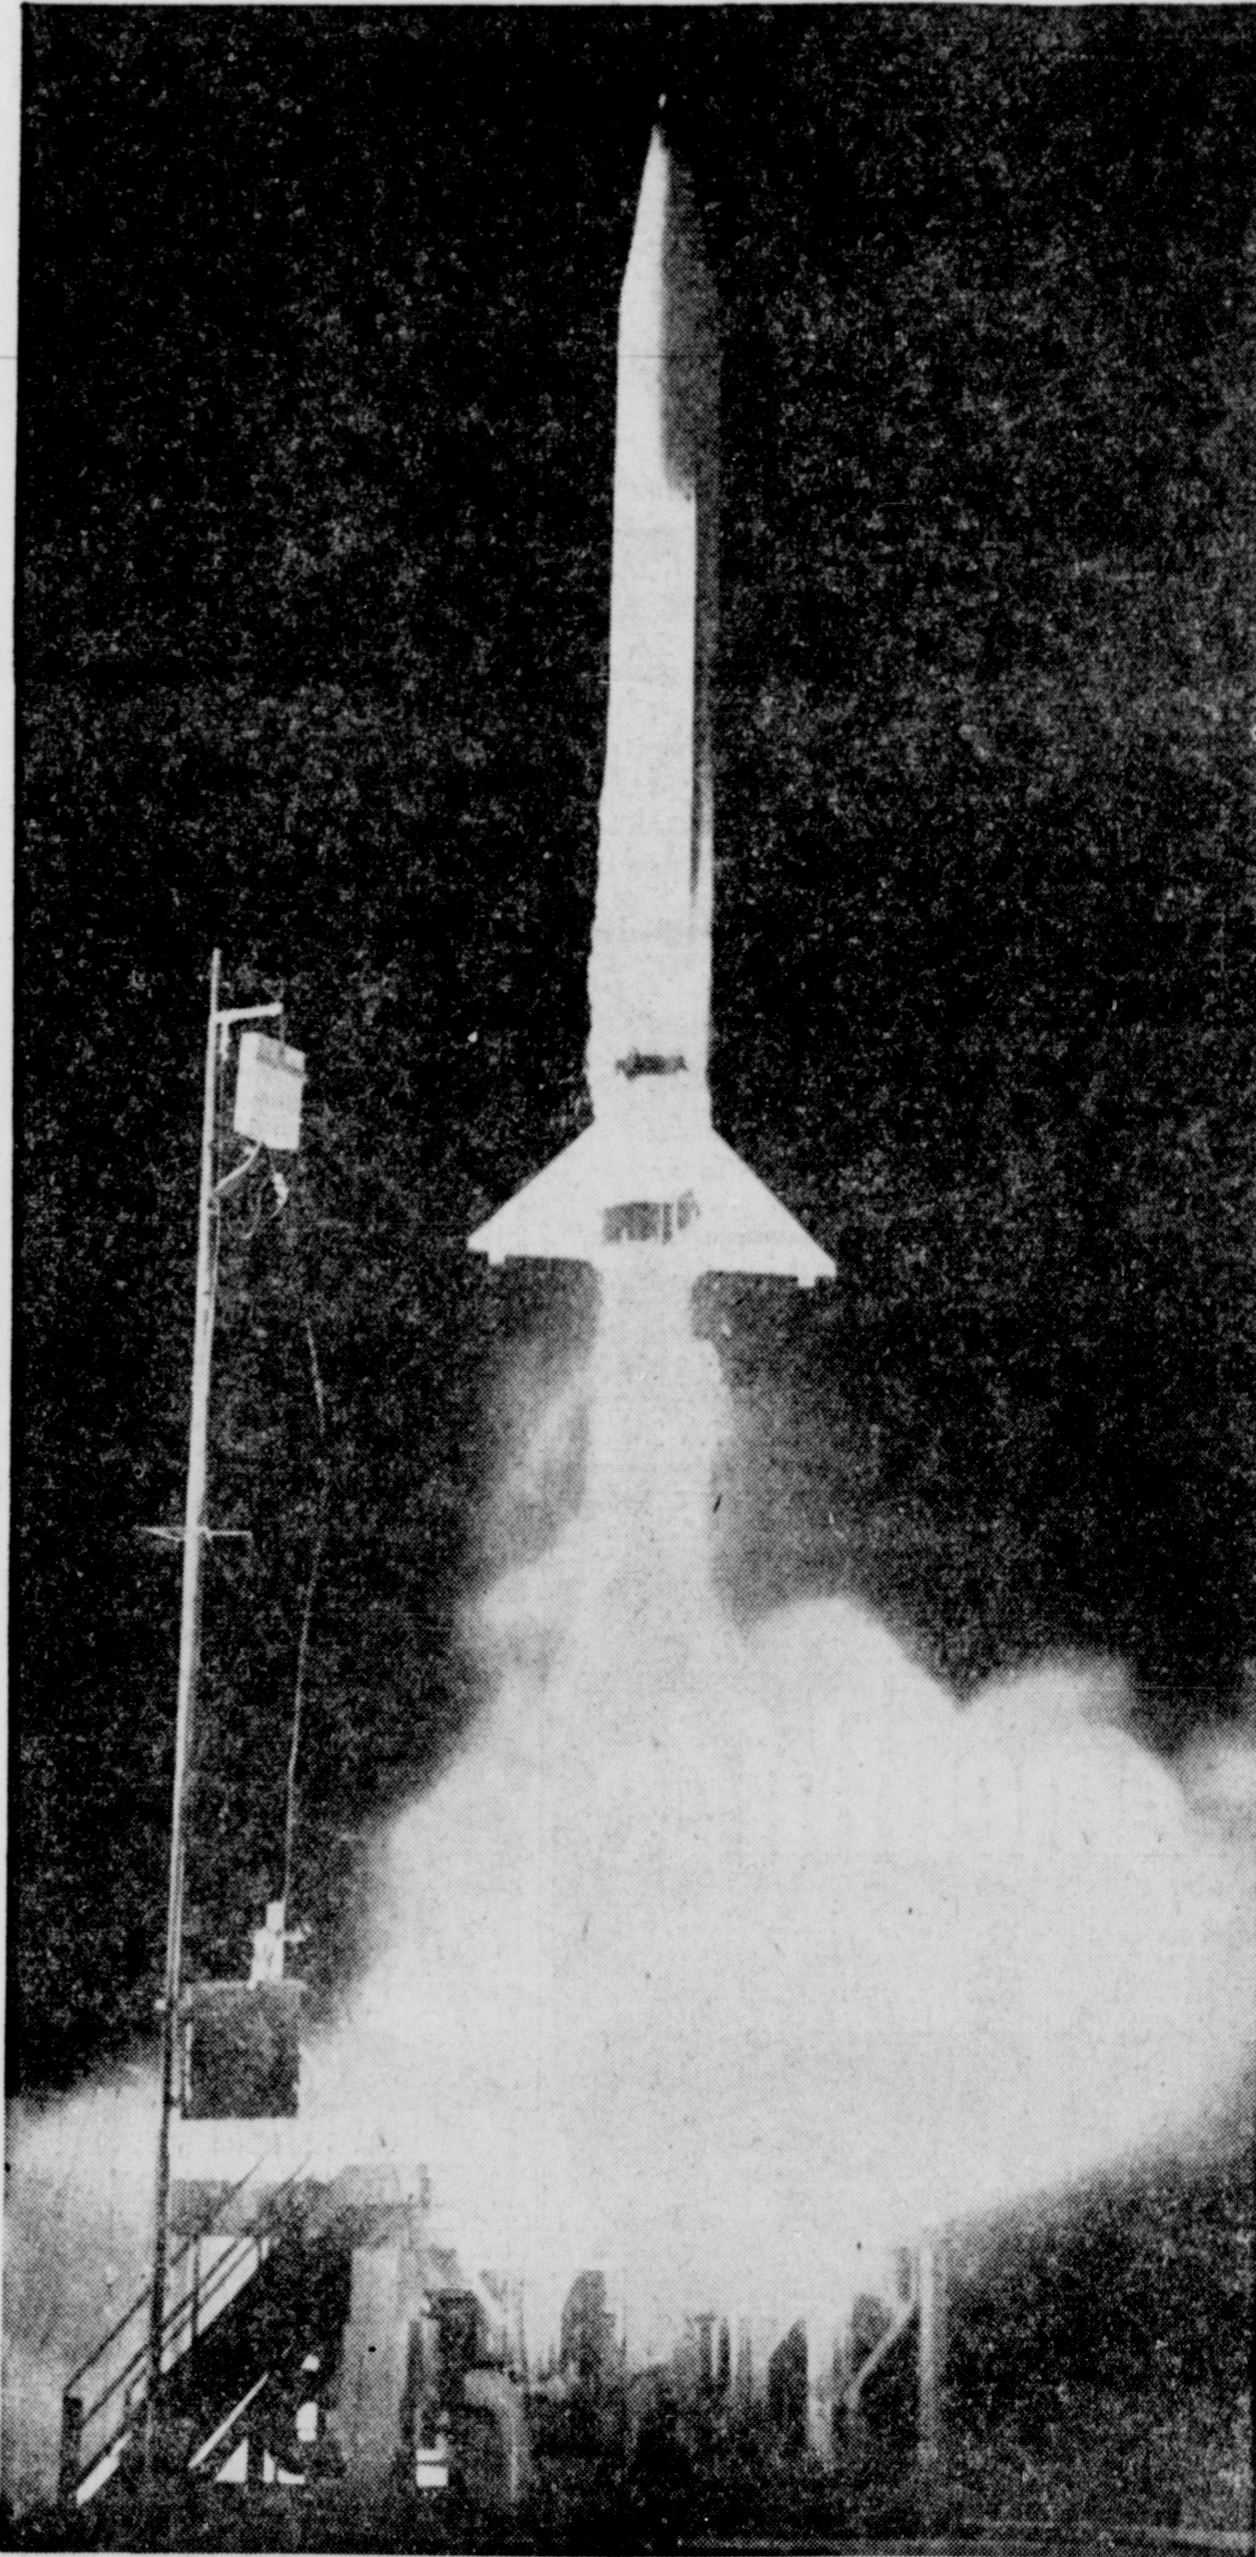

Raymond Hotchkiss assembles earth satellite at U.S. Naval Research Laboratory in Washington. He's inserting electronic "package" into its gold plated container.

Minitrack transmitter which will send signals from satellite to tracking stations on ground. Battery pack consists of seven mercury cells.

ADVENTURE INTO SPACE. Drawing shows how three-stage rocket will hurl the man-made satellite into space. It is expected to travel path some 300 miles above the earth.

The Viking, shown leaving its launching pad in test at Patrick Air Force Base, Cape Canaveral, Fla., will take satellite up through first stage of its flight into space.

Police Probing Auto Theft, 2 Accidents

Maryland State Police are continuing an investigation of a car theft, two separate accidents in Rawlings and Short Gap which caused injuries to two area men Monday.

Stanley McCloud, 35, of Keyser, and James Preston, 73, Barton, are reported in "good" condition at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Trooper Willis Foreman, who is investigating, is awaiting information from West Virginia authorities before preferring any charges.

He said McCloud was driving a car reportedly stolen from the Limestone Auto Lot in Keyser. He and Preston drove to Barton, and then went to Short Gap to visit a son of Preston's.

While returning home Monday night McCloud smashed into the rear of a car driven by George Northcraft, of RD 3, Keyser, near the Rawlings Post Office on U. S. Route 220.

Trooper Foreman said the pair failed to stop at the scene of the accident and drove across the Pinto Road toward Short Gap. Shortly before they reached Short Gap they lost control of the vehicle and overturned. The car caught fire and was demolished, police said.

Preston's son in Short Gap then took the two men to his father's home in Barton. Trooper Foreman notified Tfc. Harry Bosley who apprehended the pair in Barton.

They were later removed to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Attaches said yesterday McCloud sustained an injury to his right leg, while Preston had a laceration of the ear and chest injuries.

Pair Given Hearings In Morals Case

Two more area men were given preliminary hearings yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court on charges of statutory rape of a 13-year-old girl.

James E. Porter, 23, Corriganville, was ordered to the Allegany County Jail in default of $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury. Francis Simpson, 23, Rawlings, was released after posting $500 bond to await grand jury action.

Charges were preferred by Edwin R. Liliya, county investigator, after questioning in the state's attorney's office. The preliminary hearing was before Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Porter and Simpson are two of some 20 men who have been charged in the case involving two 13-year-old girls.

The retiring mayor and council, in final business, voted to pay a $2,500 balance on a note of $13,000 borrowed in 1955 to black-top a number of streets, and to

Transcript Cost Rule Is Changed

As a result of a recent opinion by the office of Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert, Melvin L. Fine, chairman of the State Industrial Accident Commission, has written a letter of new instructions to Robert B. Thomas, court reporter at the Court House.

The opinion concerned transcripts of testimony in cases on appeal from decisions of the State Industrial Accident Commission.

Mr. Fine points out that the ruling states that the appellant is initially responsible for payment of the cost of the original transcript and copies.

The appellant should be billed for the original and two copies. A copy of this bill should be forwarded with the record to the court as a part of the costs.

Mr. Thomas said that in the past the commission itself has assumed responsibility for payment of the transcripts. The appellant will be relieved of responsibility for payment of the transcript costs only if the verdict is changed in his favor on the appeal.

WHY DO LUTHERANS BAPTIZE Babies?

Because infant Baptism is the clearest demonstration of the sovereign grace of God.

In the Baptism of a baby, God gives Himself to one who is absolutely helpless, one who claims absolutely no merits, one who has absolutely nothing to offer, one who can only receive.

And that is the Christian religion in a nutshell.

But the moment Baptism is denied to infants, human qualifications have been set forth, and God has been denied His right to give Himself to the unqualified.

The Holy Scriptures are silent about the status of un-Baptized babies. But Scripture is very, very clear on these points:

- Baptism is a sacrament—i.e., it is God at work. God gives, man receives.
- God saves by giving, man is saved by receiving. The whole Christian Gospel is sacramental—God coming down, not man climbing up.
- Baptism is a means of God's giving, the channel Christ has chosen for giving His kingdom to human beings.
- He wants infants, too, in His kingdom. "Let the children come to me, and do not hinder them... whoever does not receive the Kingdom like a child shall not enter it... Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them..."

If you have un-Baptized children, be assured that the Lord Christ wants them, too, in His family. A team of Lutheran laymen would be happy to talk with you about His love for you—His little ones.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, June 4—(INS)—The tentless Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus is doing quite well, thank you, according to a man who should know—John Ringling North.

Accosted at Sun Luck's, where he was trying his luck with one of racing official Dennis McAvoy's 80-course Chinese dinners, North said the perilous experiment of getting rid of the big tent has worked fine and he'll never deal in canvas again.

"We did $2,000,000 at Madison Square Garden this year in five weeks, for starters," North reported. "We were off slightly in the Boston Garden, but playing indoors in Providence for the first time we did $80,000 in ten days—our best there in years. We'll do more than that, indoors, in Rochester. We've got a $45,000 advance in Hershey, Pa.

"We'll be outdoors, under the sky and Navy auspices, at Norfolk, and in ball parks in Washington, Philadelphia and Baltimore. We're allowing for a washout a week. We're playing the two biggest fairs in the hemisphere, Toronto and Pomona. We'll play a Los Angeles ball park, the Cow Palace in San Francisco and auditoriums in Oakland, San Diego, Phoenix, Odessa, and Lubbock in Texas, and Mexico City. We'll carry on into the winter—for the first time—indoors in Chicago at the Stockyards Arena, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

"Who needs a tent?" he asked. "Besides, getting rid of it took 850 people off that payroll I had so much trouble meeting."

Budd Schulberg had it real good in Hollywood during the shooting of "A Face In The Crowd," his story of a scoundrel who becomes the nation's television darling.

He demanded and received complete control over how his script was to be shot by Elia Kazan. If Budd didn't like the way a scene played, he threw it out. Not a word could be changed or a sentence deleted without his permission. It was all done on a handshake with Kazan.

"This is unique," a friend marveled. "Out here, normally, you need a contract to shake hands."

Schulberg, here to boost his explosive baby, which stars the remarkable Andy Griffith, says of the usual writer-director relations:

"I honestly feel that screenwriting in its present form is for the birds. It must be done as I did it with Elia. I had every right to contest how the picture was being shot. I'm not anti-Hollywood, but I believe the best results are available in this manner. The writer is involved in all facts, including the aspects of commercialism and entertainment. If the property is good it is going to be a financial success. That deeply involves him. I also believe that nothing should appear under an author's name that he hasn't done. He must stand on his own brand and name."

County and state real estate tax bills were mailed out over the weekend and Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House reported first day collections Monday totaled $41,000.

Mr. Close said a woman from Corriganville came to his office on Monday morning thinking she would be the first to pay her bill. However, George W. Triplett, Greene Street photographer had arrived and was the first to pay his taxes.

Liquor Board Is Organized

The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners organized yesterday with Stanley O. Hamilton being named chairman. Hamilton succeeds Walter C. Capper whose term expired May 31.

Only two members of the board were present at yesterday's meeting.

Estel C. Kelley, local attorney, who was appointed a member of the board by Governor McKeldin effective June 1, was absent. Howard W. Vandegrift, the Democratic member of the board, and Hamilton conducted the meeting.

Kelley, contacted by Hamilton and Vandegrift by phone, informed them he was not yet ready to qualify. Kelley is a member of the Allegany County delegation to the House of the General Assembly and will have to resign that post before taking his new post here.

The board appointed Mrs. Esther E. Robinson as secretary. She is also board clerk.

Also reappointed were Edward R. Wilson and Angus Turnbull as inspectors for the board.

The board approved the application of Harry H. Anthony for a Class D beer license at 60

Bowery Street, Frostburg. Hazel Wilson formerly held the license at the location.

Capper, who is also a former judge of Allegany County Circuit Court, served on the board since its inception in 1947.

Columbia University's School of General Studies is an experiment in academic rehabilitation which is turning out dramatically well. It is enabling an astonishing variety of students who never finished high school to receive a college education.

It all started in 1950 under the sensitive wing of Prof. Louis M. Hacker, a man who strongly shared the resentment that normal college requirements often cannot be surmounted by education-hungry people whose learning was largely derived from the school of hard knocks. It was a great day in June, 1954, when the first class graduated. Among the 12 who received degrees were a TWA flight purser with six children, a housewife, a retired chief torpedoman of the Navy, and a hotel clerk. The following year's graduation class included a former GI who had never finished high school but who graduated from Columbia with a Phi Beta Kappa key.

The General Studies school now has 7,000 students. Sixty eight per cent of graduates now go on to professional schools. The average age of the students is 29, though one undergraduate is coming up 80. Pat Boone, who'll make a million this year, is an English major.

Great idea.

After 10 Years Of Foreign Aid

"It is logical that the United States should do whatever it is able to do to assist in the return of normal economic health in the world, without which there can be no political stability and no assured peace."

The words were spoken ten years ago, on June 5, 1947, on the campus of Harvard University. The speaker was the U. S. Secretary of State, Gen. George C. Marshall, who was receiving an honorary degree, but the address received in the American press little more than routine coverage by the usual campus correspondents. All this was ironic, for in that address and even in that one sentence lay the gist and promise of the Marshall Plan and the whole U. S. postwar foreign aid program.

Eventually, 16 European nations formed the Organization for European Economic Cooperation to furnish "the initiative . . . from Europe" which Marshall had invited. Congress in December 1947 authorized an emergency short-term aid program and then in the Economic Cooperation Act of April 1948 established the program for European recovery.

The Marshall Plan phase of the U. S. foreign aid program covered the period from 1948 through 1950. During that time, European industrial production rose 35 per cent above the 1938 level. Agricultural output bettered prewar harvests. Inflation was brought under effective control. And international trade increased 86 per cent in volume.

Fears of Communist military aggression caused a shift in emphasis to programs of military assistance beginning with the Mutual Defense Assistance Act of 1949. From the end of World War II through the Marshall Plan era, the U. S. spent $28.6 billion on foreign aid. Subsequent spending and appropriations through the end of this fiscal year bring the total to more than $78 billion.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Right To Work

I received a letter from a correspondent in Butte, Montana, who says:

" . . . I believe you favor the so-called 'Right-to-Work' laws. That most certainly is mislabeled as it gives no one the right to work, only the privilege of free-loading on his fellow workers. Suppose all those who voted on the opposite side of an election had the right to ignore the majority rule and do as they saw fit . . ."

What this proves is that slogans do not represent thought but are something needed for identification. The slogan, "The Right to Work," identifies a movement in American life, a movement away from enforced unionism imposed upon the American people first during the Roosevelt Administration under the NRA and continued to this day. The question that was raised then and later when the National Labor Relations Act, better known as the Wagner Act, was passed was not whether trade unionism is good or bad but that in a free society it must not be involuntary. All forms of coercion, of force, of imposed uniformity are intolerable in our society.

This principle is fundamental and would have been better understood if an act were passed by Congress requiring us all to be Masons or Knights of Columbus or Elks or B'nai B'riths. As it involved a question of trade unionism, the problem of imposition, of force, of coercion, of involuntary action was cleverly sidestepped by the politicians. The current investigations of two Senate committees show, that in the instance of the McClellan Committee a number of union officials took the plea of the Fifth Amendment in matters involving embezzlement; and that in the instance of the Eastland Committee a number of union officials took the plea of the Fifth Amendment in matters involving Communist affiliations.

If all the affairs of all the labor unions of the United States were properly and adequately investigated, as they are not being investigated at the present time, they would generally show:

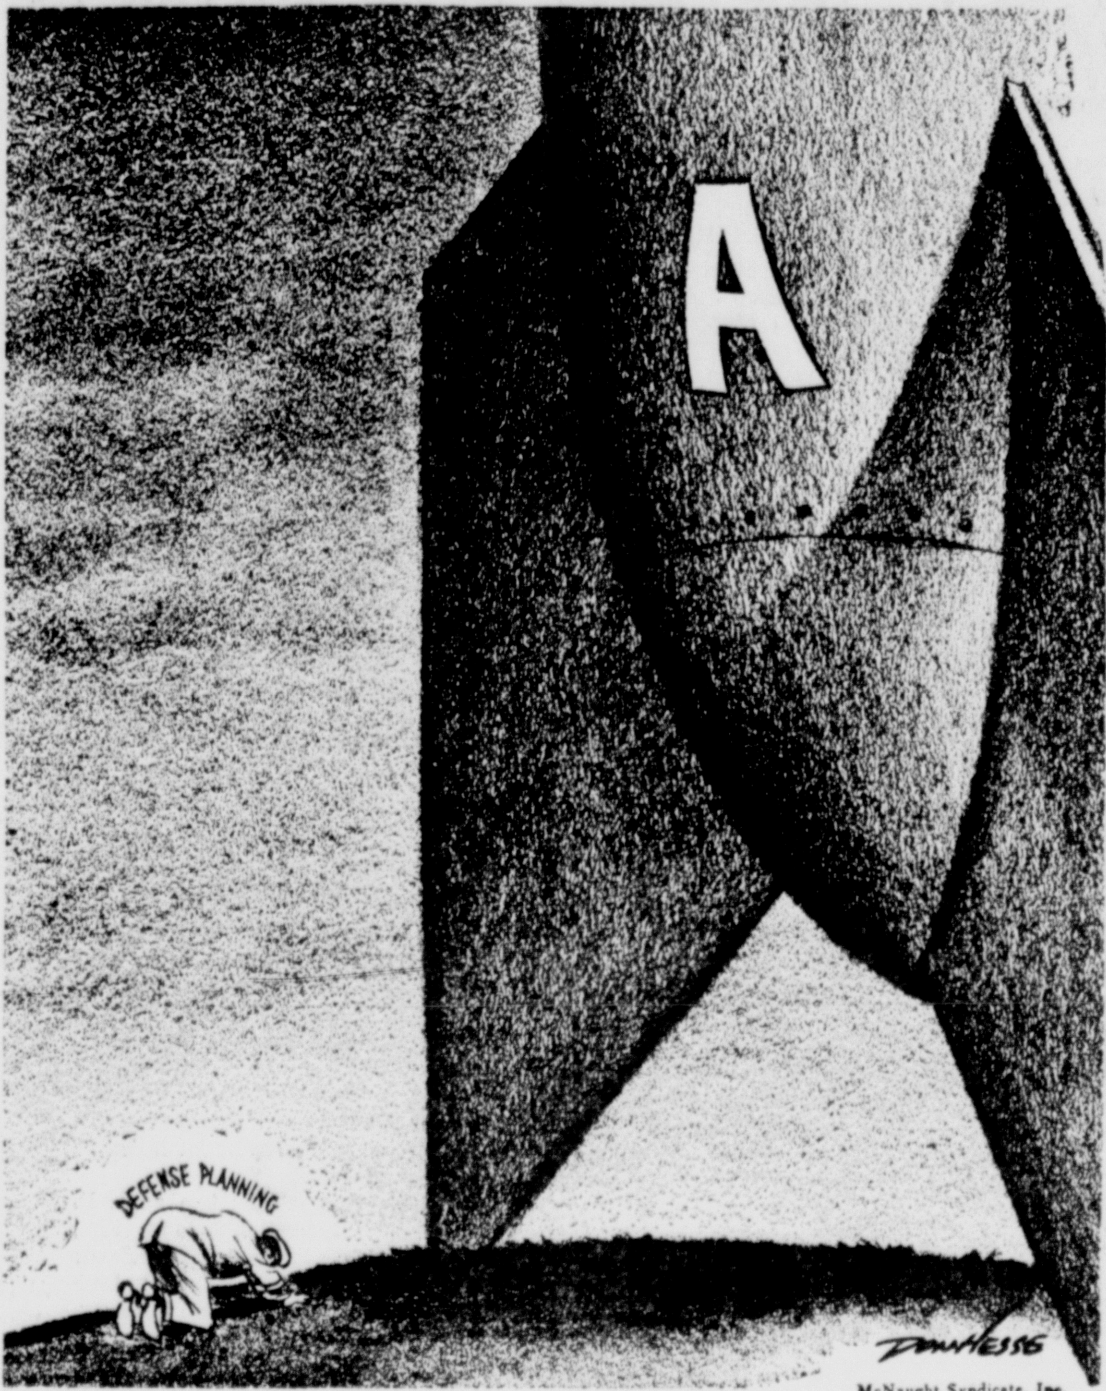

1. That the members are not in control, by democratic means, of their unions;
2. That the officers are a professional, self-perpetuating group who receive not only salaries but take enormous expense accounts;
3. That the reserves of many unions are enormous funds some of which are used speculatively in Wall Street and are employed to influence the control of companies; that other union funds actually are used to buy the stock of enterprises and to place nominees on Boards of Directors;
4. That union funds, paid as dues and assessments by American citizens to protect their jobs, are used to political purposes and are paid out in cash which is illegal if unreported. It would take a whale of an accounting job to trace this money but it can be done and it is worth doing. The responsibility for doing it is the McClellan Committee's and unless they do it, their investigations are meaningless because the essence of this problem is not that Dave Beck took some union funds for himself, but that labor leaders generally contribute to politicians and thereby exercise a money control over our affairs;
5. Further, it is now part of the pattern for both gangsters and Communists to infiltrate unions, to get at the treasuries which are so enormous. Part of the treasuries are insurance funds which should not be separated in the public's thinking from the treasuries.

This is the general pattern and while there may be some exceptions, it is not to the interest of the American people that the exceptions should be magnified into a rule. Even when exceptions are valid, they do not overcome the effect of this pattern upon the character of our society or the utilization of money for political purposes without adequate reporting which is the essence of a decent electoral system.

The question that has been raised by my correspondent from Butte, Montana, is ultra vires. The facts do not show that "freeloading" is of any importance in the labor situation; they do show that a monster has been created in American life, created by law, a monster that can be turned into a beneficial creature or into a murderous creature. The sole weapon for control is public accounting, in detail, of receipts and expenditures, and free and secret elections of union officials. Something of this character must come out of the McClellan Committee.

False God?

Iraq: The Two Views And The Extremists

BAGHDAD

By Joseph Alsop

One of the most enigmatic and important personages in all the Middle East is his Royal Highness, Abdul Ilah, the uncle and chief advisor of Iraq's King Faisal and the Crown Prince of the kingdom.

The Egyptians and his other enemies, who are not few, picture the Crown Prince as a dark intriguer endlessly plotting—plotting above all to seize his young nephew's throne, which he in fact conserved against all hazards through fourteen years as regent. In this task, he passed through many nerve-testing times.

But these past times have left no outward mark upon the Crown Prince. When he receives you in his small, pleasant, book-lined study in the palace, you find an easily polite, mild-mannered somewhat dapper man in early middle age. At first glance, he seems more likely to be really at home breeding his Arab horses than guiding the affairs of one of the largest, most complex and most stormily inclined Arab countries.

At first glance, indeed, one is chiefly struck by the sharp contrast between this mild, polite man and the magnificent aquiline arrogance of those two great romantic heroes of the Lawrence story of "Revolt in the Desert," the Crown Prince's father, the Emir Ali, and his uncle, the Emir Faisal. His portraits in desert robes are his study's chief ornaments, and at first they seem to overwhelm him.

But as the Crown Prince tells his own remarkable story and shrewdly discusses his country's problems, you begin to discern a strain of astute, temperate autocracy that might not, after all, have been so very foreign to the splendid figures haughtily gazing from the wall. Two of his remarks, in particular, impressed this reporter. One concerned the great development program into which the Iraq government is pouring the lion's share of its rich oil revenues.

"I sometimes wish," he said, "that I could just put all the people to sleep who want a different course for Iraq, and then wake them up five years from now to see what this country has become. I can remember when people who wore shoes used to pay porters to carry them on their backs across the main shopping street of Baghdad on rainy days; and the difference in Rashid Street now is nothing to the difference we are going to see in the lives of the Iraqi people in another five years."

As for his second remark, it concerned the claim of the Nasser-style Arab nationalists to be the leaders of the Arabs. "I do not think they are true leaders," he said. "For the true leader must first consider the real interests of the masses he seeks to lead."

These two remarks have seemed worth repeating in their human context because they so accurately sum up the underlying philosophy of the Iraqi government in which the Crown Prince and tough old Prime Minister Nuri Pasha are the two key figures. It is the exact opposite of the philosophy of the Nasser-style Arab nationalism, which is all popular emotion and utterly neglects work on the foundations. The Iraqi-style philosophy, by contrast, ignores popular emotions, sternly repressing them if need be, and places its whole emphasis on building the foundations of a stronger, better, more modern country.

The foundations are being built, there is no doubt about that. The change in Iraq in the last year is dramatically evident to the returning observer. The seed investments of the development program are at last beginning to produce real growth. You see the work and bustle here in Baghdad. You see a whole city, long half dead, suddenly coming back to life in Mosul. Above all, you see a people once miserably badly off, still rather badly off, but now at least with work to do and the first experience of a rising level of life.

It is an inspiring and exciting spectacle. You cannot help but feel that even if the Iraqi government does not have a popular majority today—which it does not—the majority will come later when a really decent level of life has been attained and the current effort to raise the educational level of the illiterate masses has also produced results. But there is another view, which in fairness should be recorded.

This view was best expressed by Abdul Bahman Al-Bazzaz, former dean of the Baghdad University law school, who was deprived of his post and locked up for his agitation against Nuri Pasha's government in the Suez crisis. He is free now to practice law and to receive such visitors as this reporter in his handsome house and garden. He is not embittered and he is not an extremist. But he talked with passion of the immediate need for real democracy in Iraq, as "the only way we can learn to rule ourselves"; and he added grimly, "if this keeps on, it will not matter what the development program achieves, the extremists will win the country in the end."

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We're not taking Monty's opinion of Gettysburg until Kilroy okays it.

If Monty wants to be an expert on American battles why not start with Yorktown. That's when Cornwallis' band played "The Cookie Jar is Upside Down."

We forgive the old boy because everybody is an expert on Gettysburg including Elsa Maxwell.

I've been over the ground fifty times. And was always glad I got there late like Monty.

But Meade and Lee didn't make one mistake that Monty did. They didn't stick their heads in cannons.

Monty might have had his picture autographed by that old muzzler-loader.

When I traveled with Clark Griffith and John McGraw I made side-trips to the Civil War battlefields. I know as much about them as Monty or any other coot who wasn't there.

One thing sticks out like horns on hat-racks. After leading his hopeless charge General Pickett became president of a life insurance company.

On Diabetics, Toenails, Barbers And Vitamin A

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Drs. Charles W. Gray and William B. Dean, of Iowa City, reported a remarkable case of a middle aged woman with long toe nails. She was a diabetic who did not follow her diet or care about her condition. She ate too little and smoked and drank too much. The woman lost 75 pounds before she entered the hospital and complained of weakness, loss of appetite, and leg pain.

Her elongated, thickened toe nails protruded 1½ inches and were curved to conform to the shape of her shoes. This was her story: Her father had trimmed her toe nails until his death. That was 12 years before and—because of grief, ignorance, or whimsy—she never had cut her own nails, which grew until they broke off spontaneously.

From England comes a story of an unusual occupational disease among barbers who cut men's hair. The sharp, stiff, bristly short hairs penetrate the folds of the skin between the barber's fingers. The hair festers like a sliver and the lesion will not heal until the bristle is removed.

Dr. Michael C. Oldfield of the General Infirmary, Leeds, wrote of a barber who developed a painful, swollen, and red area between the left index and middle fingers. His wife noticed a "bunch of hair sticking into the flesh," which she pulled out with a tweezer. One of the hairs had burrowed deeply into the palm and the ensuing irritation created a tract or sinus which had to be removed surgically before healing occurred.

Dr. Oldfield says the skin creases of the hands and the webs of the fingers in barbers are softened by frequent handling of hair oils and lotions which accumulate between the fingers. Short pieces of hair stick to the area, and sooner or later some of the bristles penetrate the skin.

What happens when too much vitamin A is consumed? Two separate tests were done on a healthy 40 year old man who was given 1 million units for 13 and 25 days respectively. His skin itched and became dry and scaly. His lips cracked, dandruff recurred, and his finger nails became fragile.

The man was dizzy and weak and complained of alternating constipation and diarrhea, loss of appetite and spots before the eyes. Pain and tenderness developed over the long bones and joints. One million units a day is a large dosage considering that most multiple vitamin capsules contain up to 10,000 units.

TOMORROW: Milk secretion.

Dictator Trujillo Got Help From FDR Jr., In-Laws Of Ike, Dulles

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This column was the first to reveal that ex-Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. had been hired by Dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic. It's only fair, therefore, to report on other relatives of those in high places who have been playing footsie with the Caesar of the Caribbean.

The list includes:

1. The son-in-law of John Foster Dulles, Robert Hinshaw.
2. The brother-in-law of President Eisenhower, Colonel Gordon Moore.
3. The ex-assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin American affairs, Henry Holland.

The chief source of Dictator Trujillo's wealth is the Dominican sugar industry. He owns most of the sugar mills in his country. It was no accident, therefore, that Congress last year increased the quota of Dominican sugar admitted to the United States. It took this action despite opposing pressure of beet sugar growers in our Rocky Mountain states and cane growers in Louisiana.

Here is part of the backstage story of what happened:

In 1954, Dulles' son-in-law offered to help Trujillo get his sugar quota increased. The dictator then sent his personal plane, a luxurious flying yacht, the "San Cristobal," to fly Dulles' daughter, Mrs. Robert Hinshaw, her husband, and children to the Dominican Republic.

For three months the Hinshaws stayed at the beautiful seashore

Hotel Jaragua, running up a bill of no small proportions. Hinshaw tried to promote several deals with the dictator, finally overstayed his welcome. Trujillo paid his bills.

Hinshaw, when queried by this column as to why he had not registered as a foreign agent, as required if an American works for or accepts funds to represent a foreign government, said that he did not do any work for Trujillo.

Informed that some people registered if they received expenses from a foreign government, Hinshaw admitted that his expenses were paid, but did not agree that he should have registered.

Under the Foreign Registration Act there is nothing wrong about an American working for a foreign government, but it is specified that the American public has a right to know when someone is so working. The law firm of Secretary of State Dulles has been registered in the past as working for various foreign governments; also the law firm of ex-Secretary Dean Acheson. It is a criminal offense not to register.

Note — The Justice Department recently indicted John Frank, an ex-FBI agent who wired Trujillo's palace for sound, for failing to register as a foreign agent.

Ex-State Department Official

One former high official who definitely helped put across Trujillo's sugar quota increase is able Henry Holland, former top official in the State Department for Latin American affairs. Holland scarcely got out of the State Department when he headed for the Dominican Republic. He not only made several trips, but got on the payroll of Trujillo's mining consultant, William Pawley the former ambassador to Brazil.

It can be argued that Holland gets his fees directly from Pawley, therefore doesn't have to register. Likewise Franklin Roosevelt Jr. might have argued that he got his fees through Charles Patrick Clark, lobbyist for both Franco and Trujillo. However, Roosevelt registered.

It is about that place in South Dakota. Wasn't there a popular song about Sioux City, Ia.? A. About 10 years ago Dick Thomas wrote a hit song titled "Sioux City Sue."

ANKLE INJURY

Strain usually involves injury of the muscle fibers, whereas in sprain joints, ligaments and capsule are affected.

all Americans in Trujillo-land is Ike's brother-in-law, Colonel Gordon Moore, who, Colonel Moore, now retired from the Army, is a genial soul, frequently at the White House. His appearances in the background of the President's nationwide telecasts haven't hurt his prestige in Washington where much depends on influence.

Colonel Moore has made several trips to the tightly controlled island of the Caribbean; has sometimes taken his family along. During one of these trips he negotiated a highly complicated sugar deal with the American-owned but Trujillo-tolerated South Puerto-Rican Sugar Company.

This involved 7,000 tons of "green sugar," which Moore got shipped into the USA as hog feed. This classification meant first, that the sugar was never counted against the Dominican quota.

Second, it passed through customs with a cheaper tariff rate. As blackstrap molasses for cattle or hog feed it paid a duty of 1.5 cents per hundred pounds instead of 66.5 cents per hundred charged for green sugar. Later the U. S. Customs Bureau reversed itself and demanded the 66.5 cent rate on Moore's shipment.

Later a considerate congress passed a law exempting "green sugar" from the high tariff rate, though too late to affect Moore's shipment.

But even more considerate friends in Congress then introduced a bill which would give Colonel Moore's shipment special treatment. It would make the lower tariff rate retroactive to June 30, 1955. By happy coincidence this would apply chiefly to Colonel Moore, since his 7,000-ton import is the only major shipment affected.

This helpful bill was introduced by Senator Jack Kennedy, Democratic aspirant for President, and Congressman Phil Philbin, another Democrat, also of Massachusetts. Later Kennedy took his name off the bill, but Congressmen Hale Boggs of Louisiana, another Democrat, promptly put his name on instead.

Note — Those connected with the green sugar deal claim Moore merely acted as a broker, that the purchase was made by the Robert G. Lynch Company. However, Lynch is hired by Moore and occupies the same offices with him.

BRONCO BILLY

The first great Western film or "horse opera" star was "Bronco Billy" Anderson. He was originally a vaudeville actor and his real name was Max Aronson. Although he appeared in about 400 Western films, "Bronco Billy" feared horses and had a strong dislike for them. He never rode a horse until he became a film actor. He never rode one after he gave up acting.

BREAKFAST

Ice cream for breakfast is being suggested for the summer season. Only person I ever knew to have that dish regularly for his morning meal was "Bojangles" Robinson, the dancer. The favorite breakfast of "Bojangles" was three dishes of vanilla ice cream and a dozen hot biscuits.

HOUSEWORK

As to the time it should take a woman to do her daily housework, a domestic efficiency expert says it should be figured on basis of half an hour for each room, plus one hour for each small child. Thus, if a woman has a six-room house and two small children, her housework should be done in five hours. If she has an eight room house and three small children, her housework should be completed in seven hours.

SIDELIGHTS

Pisces women have one track minds, no sense of humor and lack style sense. Or, so says a feminine subscriber of Chicago who was born under the sign of Libra . . . Arthur Brisbane believed in late marriages for men. He didn't marry until he was 47 years old. He became the father of six children.

Mayor Urges Continuing Clean-Up

FROSTBURG — According to Mayor Joseph James the recent "clean up" campaign conducted here resulted in the removal of a number of old fire traps and unused buildings from the various parts of the city.

"However," the mayor continued, "there are still many dangerous and dilapidated sheds, garages, stables and outbuildings standing in the city that are a menace to the health and safety of our citizens."

"The clean up campaign will be continued," he said, "and all citizens having vacant lots which have grown up with weeds or high grass and who have old useless sheds or buildings about their property are urged to have them cleaned up. If this is not done voluntarily, he stated, it will be necessary to take legal action."

As long as these buildings stand, the mayor pointed out, property owners are obliged to pay taxes on them so it would be to their advantage to tear them down if they are not being used.

Rev. Crowson Is Returned To Trinity Church

Haddix Holds Cinci Redlegs To Three Hits

Faces 32 Batters, Strikes Out Nine, Scores Fourth Win

PHILADELPHIA, June 4 (AP)—Little Harvey Haddix cut down hard hitting Cincinnati with a three-hitter tonight as he pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory and within 1½ games of the National League leading Redlegs.

Haddix, 31, whose effectiveness has been hampered by a month-long virus attack, gave up a first inning single to outfielder Gus Bell, a triple to catcher Ed Bailey in the eighth and a ninth inning double to Johnny Temple for the only Redleg hits.

Facing only 32 batters, the southpaw struck out nine and walked two. It was his fourth victory against three defeats and his second complete game of the season.

Haddix had to pitch his way out of deep trouble in the ninth inning when Temple doubled and Wally Post walked, putting the tying runs on base with none out. Haddix then struck out Bell with a beautiful curve ball and retired Frank Robinson and Pete Whisenant on routine outfield flies.

PEN-MAR LITTLE LEAGUE

Barrelville	7 0	Maroons	2 2
Orioles	5 2	A. V.	2 5
Cresaptown	3 4	Ellerslie	2 5

Barrelville romped to its seventh consecutive win of the Pen-Mar Little League season yesterday, trouncing the Eagles at Cresaptown by the score of 11-0 in a game that was played under protest by the home management from the third inning.

Joe Nolan bagged his 4th straight mound triumph of the campaign, holding the Eagles to four singles, while the league leaders nicked Ferrone and Clem for nine safeties. Nolan clouted a homer and double, J. Smith banged a pair of two-baggers, Lynn tripled and Bridges doubled.

Ronnie Miller, Cresaptown catcher, retired in the third inning when a ball struck his mask and he suffered a jaw injury.

LaVale's Orioles stayed on the heels of the league leaders by whipping Ellerslie to the tune of 6-6.

Ellerslie exploded for five runs in the first inning but Teddy Bennett, relief pitcher, put out the fire and went on to win an uphill battle. Bennett, Comer and James shared six of the Orioles' eight hits. Klahre belted a first inning homer for Ellerslie. The win was Bennett's third against one setback.

Larry Snyder tossed a three-hitter and fired the third strike past eight batsmen as the LaVale Maroons downed D.A.V. No. 2 by the score of 6-2. The win gave Snyder a season record of 2-2.

Shreves of the D.A.V. opened the game with a home run and Hardy smacked a triple. Dickie Horn garnered a double and single for the Maroons.

Ted Durbin's sacrifice fly to left field in the last of the 7th inning enabled Vern Penner to score the run that broke a tie score as the Cumberland Outdoor Club rolled to its 7th consecutive triumph at the expense of the Knights of Columbus in a Rocking Chair Softball League tilt yesterday at Stitzer Field. The score was 13-12.

Penner and Charley Day walked and a wild pitch advanced both runners before Durbin batted over the deciding tally.

Jim Morrison, who replaced Day in the top of the 7th, was credited with the win.

Twenty-eight hits were recorded, 15 by the O.D.C. and 13 by the Knights. Jim Eckard pounded two home runs, one coming with two mates aboard, and a single while "Bud" Porter hammered a triple, double and single for the league leaders. Don Harden obtained four hits for the Knights. Two of his blows were doubles.

The Loyal Order of Moose eked out a 2-0 decision over Celanese at Celanese Field. The only scoring was done in the fourth inning when three bases on balls, Don Liliya's sacrifice fly and a throwing error produced two runs.

Only three hits were made in this game. Nelson had the only safety for the Silken and Tommy Head and Sammy Morgan, the winning pitcher, obtained the Moose blows. Surash, Celanese twirler, issued seven bases on balls. The rival shortstops, Herman Lewis of the Moose, and Bobby Williams of Celanese, starred afield.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass defeated the V.F.W., 11-6, but details were not furnished in time for publication.

The Elk's-Ritter's Social Club game was postponed at Fort Hill Field so as not to interfere with the Fort Hill High School commencement exercises that were being held in the nearby stadium.

Dodgers And Giants Make No Commitments

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The heads of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants refused to make any commitments today but indicated a definite decision as to whether the two teams will remain in or leave New York will be made in six weeks.

In what was supposed to be a "showdown meeting" with Mayor Robert F. Wagner in City Hall, Presidents Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers and Horace Stoneham of the Giants assured the city's chief executive they had made no commitments to the West Coast but added they had no commitments to stay here either.

Orioles Win, 9-7

Pierce Beats Bosox In Ten Innings, 1-0

38,490 See Chisox Defeat Ike Delock

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—Billy Pierce, the major league's winningest pitcher, hurled the league-leading Chicago White Sox to a 10-inning 1-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox tonight before a crowd of 38,490.

Nellie Fox's bases-loaded single with one out in the 10th inning brought home rookie Jim Landis with the game's only run and enabled the White Sox to maintain their five-game lead over the New York Yankees who whipped Cleveland, 7-4.

Pierce was near perfect in posting his ninth victory of the season against two losses. He allowed but two hits—a leadoff double to Billy Klaus in the third and a leadoff single to Norm Zauchin in the eighth.

The little lefthander now owns at least one victory over every other team in the league.

Reliever Ike Delock, who came on in the eighth inning after starter Dean Stone developed a blister on his pitching hand, suffered the loss, his fifth in eight decisions.

Labine To Rescue, Dodgers Win, 7-5, Koufax Whiffs 12

BROOKLYN, June 4 (AP)—Clem Labine had to come on for a 1-13-inning mop up job tonight for a 7-5 Brooklyn victory over the Chicago Cubs after two home runs had shelled young Sandy Koufax. Koufax had no-hit the Bruins for five frames and fanned 12 to take over the National League strike-out lead.

A two-run homer by Bob Speake broke up Koufax' no-hitter in the sixth and a three-run homer by Ernie Banks started Sandy on his way out in the eighth.

Labine got the final out in the eighth, but ran into some trouble of his own in the ninth before striking out Speake with the tying run on first base.

Koufax, working smoothly as the Dodgers piled up a 7-0 lead that included home runs by Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, pushed his strikeout total to 59 to overhaul Pittsburgh's Luis Arroyo, who had led going into tonight's games with 48.

His final hit drove in the winning run as the Pirates rallied for two runs in the eighth inning to nip the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 and extend the Pirate winning streak to four games, longest of the season for them.

The Pirates outhit the Cards 16-9 and left 12 base runners stranded. Stan Musial, the No. 2 National League hitter who had a .359 average going into the game, had one hit in one official trip. It was a two-run homer in the fourth, his 10th circuit blast of the year and the 362nd of his major league career. It moved him into the No. 7 position among the all-time home run leaders. ## 22 To Start 177th Epsom Derby Today

Crepello Remains 2 To 1 Favorite

EPSOM, England, June 4 (AP)—Two colts who never saw a U. S. race track carried America's main hopes today for a sixth winner of the English derby. They are Roy-aumont and Tempest, but the English colt, Crepello, remained a 2-1 favorite to win the great classic.

The 177th Derby, over the tough mile and one half Epsom Downs course about 15 miles from London, will be witnessed tomorrow by a crowd of several hundred thousand including Queen Elizabeth II and her royal party. The Queen owns Doutele, one of the better horses in the Derby.

A field of 22 three-year-old colts is scheduled to start in the Derby. One of Britain's greatest betting races, the Derby also is the basis for an Irish Hospital Sweepstakes.

Roy-aumont, bred in France, is owned by Mrs. George L. Ohrstrom of the Plains, Va., and Tempest, an English-bred, is owned by the Maine Chance Farm of Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham of New York. Both have great racing interests in Europe and the United States.

Two other American-owned horses, Ballymoss and Bois De Miel, are long shots in the race. Ballymoss is an Irish colt, owned by John McShain of Philadelphia, while the English-bred Bois De Miel is owned by Philip King of New York.

The last American horse to win the Derby was Kentucky-bred New Say Die, who won the 1954 for the late Robert Sterling Clark of New York and Upperville, Va.

Rotary Wins 9-7 Over Woodmen In Oakland Pony Tilt

OAKLAND, Md., June 4—The Rotary Club launched its campaign in the Pony League today, defeating the Woodmen of the World by the score of 9-7.

The game was continued from the third inning on Monday when darkness halted hostilities.

Roger Broadwater got credit for the win although he was replaced in the 6th by Bill Stemple after developing a sore arm. Paul Eaton, the first of four W.O.W. pitchers, was the loser. Broadwater fanned nine and walked four while Stemple whiffed four and issued four passes.

One of the three hits credited to the Woodmen was a double by Ron Colaw. Bill Stemple smacked a pair of two-baggers and Sharpless, Burgner and Broadwater collected two singles each for the Rotarians. Score:

Drivers' Union To Boycott 500 Mile Monza Race

MILAN, June 4 (INS)—The International Union of Professional Racing Drivers, to which most of Europe's drivers belong, announced today its members will boycott the scheduled 500-mile race at Monza June 30 because it is "too dangerous."

World champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina said:

"It's 95 to 100 I will not compete. The banked curves are too dangerous for this type of race."

The ten top finishers in the Indianapolis Memorial Day "500" were scheduled to compete at Monza, but Sam Hanks, winner of the event, withdrew last week because he said he understood the best foreign drivers would not compete.

In New York, Hanks said:

"(Their small cars probably wouldn't go so well against our big Indianapolis-type cars, any more than we could expect to do well with them in road races. But I think it will be a shame if the race falls through. I talked to Pat O'Connor, who was over there to run a tire test, and he thought it was one of the nicest courses he ever was on.")

Jimmy Conrad Of Franklin Wins PVC Batting Crown

Panther Noses Out Clevenger By Two Points

Average Is .516;
Elks' Wilson 3rd;
241 Play In Loop

By the hairline margin of two percentage points, Jimmy Conrad, shortstop of Coach Curtis "Gus" Smith's Franklin High School Panthers of Pendleton county, is the batting champion of the Potomac Valley Conference for the 1957 season.

The Franklin senior participated in eight games, collected 16 hits in 31 official trips to the plate and wound up the campaign with an average of .516, beating out Bill Clevenger of Keyser who figured in 10 games and collected 18 hits in 35 at bats for .514.

Third place went to Frank Wilson, of Elk Garden, who smacked the pill at a .471 clip. Two Moorefield players, Billy Keller and Ralph Bean, finished fourth and fifth, respectively, with averages of .469 and .464, respectively.

Clevenger had more hits than any player in the 15-school circuit, a total of 18, while John McCauley, Capon Bridge's versatile tosser who posted a 7-2 record as a pitcher, and hit .350 led the league in runs with 18 and hit the most home runs—three.

Danny Cooper of Capon Bridge had more official at bats than any player in the league—a total of 44.

Two hundred and forty-one players participated in league games and 57 who stepped to the plate one or more times failed to hit safely. Keyser High School used the greatest number of players, a total of 24. Berkeley Springs was next with 21. Mathias and Circleville used the least—12 each.

BATTING CHAMP — Shortstop Jimmy Conrad (above) of the Franklin High School Panthers of Pendleton county, W. Va., has won the batting championship of the 15-school Potomac Valley Conference for the 1957 season with an average of .516, two percentage points better than the mark turned in by Bill Clevenger of Keyser. Conrad is believed to be the first Franklin player ever to win the conference batting crown. He played in eight games and collected 16 hits in 31 official trips.

Derooin Rides Four Winners

Suffolk Downs Has "Open House Day"

BOSTON, June 4 (AP)—Apprentice Dave Derooin rode four winners, including Reynolds' Brother's Navarette in the featured $5,000 purse, as 30,828 fans jammed Suffolk Downs on "open house day."

Navarette captured the featured six-furlong sprint by romping to a length and a half victory over Harold Silverman's Ripingale in a sharp 1:11 1/5. Mrs. John P. Adams' General Riley was third, almost two lengths farther back.

Navarette paid $3.60, $2.80 and $2.40. Ripingale paid $7.00 and $2.00, while General Riley returned $3.20 to show.

Derooin opened the day's program by piloting Little Baker ($16.00) to victory in the first race. He finished in a dead heat for fourth aboard Clean Fox in the second, then won the third on Lucky Bit ($5.40).

The young rider finished seventh with Tones Tricia in the fourth race, but came back to win the fifth with Nearways Flash ($6.80). He was fourth on Nero's Mermaid in the sixth before winning with Navarette in the seventh.

He finished third aboard Flying Spur, a 7-1 shot, in the eighth race.

If so, we know that you will be very pleased when you hear our "Home Planning Program." It has been our experience that frequently we can save you many dollars and a great deal of hardship by supplying material out of our yard rather than from a pre-fab factory. The advantage of dealing with a home-town lumber yard are many! You can be sure of Quality and know that we will be here to make any adjustments on material shortages. Our future depends upon your satisfaction and our prices are as low or lower in many cases than those of our "pre-fab" competitors. If you will give us the opportunity to quote on the same material lists and specifications that you would be receiving with your pre-fab, we are confident that we can save you many dollars.

Mayor, Council Get Complaint On Local Dust

Dry weather, plus the speedup in construction of the new yards of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, brought a dust complaint before the Mayor and Council Monday.

Roy Lewis of 701 Montreal Avenue in the Mapleside section declared the dust is so thick in South End "You can hardly open the door without filling up the house with dust."

He said residents have to sleep with their windows closed as the earth moving continues until 2:30 a. m. each day.

William H. Buchholz, commissioner of streets and public property, pointed out that only a very small portion of the big yard project is in the city limits.

The remainder is between the city line and North Branch, he added.

Buchholz said he would meet with the contractor and see if some temporary relief can be provided the residents of the section during the dry spell.

Lewis pointed out that persons living near a big earth moving project in the Hagerstown area had the dust stopped when they took court action.

William V. Keegan, police and fire commissioner, said Greater Hagerstown is becoming progressive and growing because the Mayor and Council there is working together with the residents.

Lewis countered with "That doesn't have anything to do with the dust."

He added that he is trying to get two ends (the contractor and the council) to work together, but "This end won't work."

Sewage Plant Order Approved By Council

The order paying the consulting engineer on the city sewage treatment plant his 27th check for supervisory and inspection services was passed by the Mayor and Council Monday by a 4-1 vote.

Again John J. Long, finance commissioner, placed a dissenting ballot against the payment. He has protested this allocation on previous occasions.

The $4,300 check to Robert T. Regester, Baltimore engineer who designed the $2,000,000 plant on Offutt Street extended, is for advisory supervision and inspection of the installation.

The Mayor and Council also approved an order paying Donald W. Mason, local attorney, $50 for title work on a number of tracts figuring in the Cumberland side of the flood protection project.

Keegan Seeking New Equipment

The May report of William V. Keegan, police and fire commissioner submitted to the Mayor and Council noted that the Police Department equipment is in poor condition.

By this he meant the cruisers, which he stated last week should be replaced by new automobiles because of the maintenance costs.

Keegan said the Fire Department's equipment is in good condition.

The bidding:

South West North East
1 spade 2 clubs 2 spades 4 spades
Pass Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Six of spades.

South had to display all his talents to bring in his game contract. The final contract was a trifle ambitious. Perhaps North should have passed three spades since his original free bid was minimum in nature with no distributional advantages.

South showed wise restraint in not jumping to game on his rebid. The king of clubs had lost some of its luster by reason of West's overcall.

West with no very appealing lead, chose to open a trump. Declarer won the first trick with the king and drew another round ending up in his own hand. Development of the diamond suit was begun then with a low card toward dummy. West ducked and declarer, of course, went up with the queen.

A diamond was returned and South carefully played the ten. It was imperative to keep East out of the lead and had declarer gone up with the ace, West, by dropping the king, could have created an entry into East's hand with jack of diamonds. West won with the king and got out safely with a diamond. South's fourth diamond was now established, but he was in no hurry to cash it, for at this time there was no discard that would serve any good purpose.

Declarer's next play was the key to his success. Bidding seemed to indicate the ace of hearts was with West, so South led the six. West was compelled to duck for if he went up with the ace declarer would win two tricks in the suit, discarding a low club on dummy's king of hearts. The king, therefore, had the trick. Declarer then returned to his own hand with a trump and cashed his 13th diamond, upon which he let go one of dummy's hearts.

The lead of the queen of hearts now saddled West with the lead, and he found himself hopelessly trapped.

Stock Market Irregularly Lower; Du Pont Loses 4

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The stock market was irregularly lower today. Du Pont continued to yield ground in the wake of the momentous decision yesterday by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Aircrafts staged a late rally. A number of oil stocks made sizable gains. Steels showed an improved tone.

Leading chemicals, however, were on the downside. Motors were off. Rails were mixed. Utilities were a bit ahead on balance.

Du Pont, deemed in violation of the anti-trust laws because of its 23 per cent ownership of General Motors stock, was still an enigma to investors, apparently. How the high court's decision will be implemented was a question still unanswered.

Stock of the chemical giant fluctuated again during the session, at times showing a mere fractional loss. It closed at 193 1/2, off 4 points and near its low of the day.

Volume picked up to 2,200,000 shares compared with 2,050,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 30 cents to $183.60 with the industrials down 80 cents, the rails down 30 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Bigelow-Sanford was the most active stock, unchanged at 14 1/4 on 43,800 shares. Second was General Motors, off 1/4 at 41 1/4 on 37,000 shares. Third was Texas Gulf producing, up 1/4 at 48 1/4 on 33,400 shares.

Autopsy Clues Are Studied In Van Horn Death

Former Resident Is Accused Of Murder

TOWSON, Md., June 4 (AP) — Socialite Mrs. Robert J. Van Horn, with every rib in her body broken, may have been crushed by a car or kicked and stomped to death, a medical examiner said today.

That was indicated by Assistant Medical Examiner William V. Lovitt, who performed the autopsy on the 33-year-old woman. He disclosed that death was caused by a massive crushing of the chest and extensive chest hemorrhages. She also was beaten severely on the head and face.

Is Former Resident

Robert J. Van Horn, 52-year-old lumber company executive, and former resident of Cumberland, is charged with murdering his wife. He is being held without bail in Baltimore County jail under 24-hour guard.

A son of Charles W. Van Horn, retired vice president in charge of operations and maintenance for the B & O Railroad, Mr. Van Horn lived in the 200 block of Greene Street in Cumberland in 1921 and 1922 when his father was superintendent of the B & O's Cumberland Division.

Van Horn, through his attorneys, waived preliminary hearing today. State's Atty. Frank H. Newell III said he would present the case to the grand jury "as soon as the police investigation is completed."

Dr. Lovitt said of the multiple bruises inflicted on the woman, "Such injuries might have been caused by an automobile. They could also have been caused by her being stomped and kicked. They might have resulted from the woman being slammed against a tree. As far as that goes, they could have been caused by a severe beating with a baseball bat or club."

Held Police At Bay

Police took Van Horn into custody late Sunday night after he had held them at bay with a .32 caliber pistol while sitting in his station wagon. He had told them he intended to commit suicide. Police discovered his wife's body a short distance away, about 30 feet down an embankment, off the Baltimore-Harrisburg Expressway.

Police laboratories were scrutinizing today some blood stained clothing—a gray suit and white shirt—which police retrieved from the Patapsco River in the Baltimore harbor. According to detectives, Van Horn accompanied them to the bridge and pointed to the place where he had tossed the clothing into the water early Sunday morning.

Police also checked the Evergreen Farms at Shawan in suburban Baltimore County, where the well-to-do couple lived. Police said they had removed bark from a tree found spattered with blood and strands of hair. Of particular interest to detectives was a dent in the center of the front bumper of Van Horn's station wagon.

Holds Body In Arms

The Van Horns went to a party Saturday night and reportedly arrived at their Evergreen Farms about 11 p.m. A report by Detective Capt. Elmer F. Adams quoted Van Horn that he and his wife argued, and she hit him with her purse.

Van Horn went into a rage, the statement continued, and he did not realize what happened until he picked up his wife. Then he sat dazed in the station wagon until dawn Sunday, holding his wife's body in his arms.

Police said Van Horn had written three notes, one addressed to "county police," but did not disclose their contents.

Van Horn has engaged as his attorneys Hilary W. Gans and John Grason Turnbull, majority floor leader in the State Senate.

Shortly after the system went into operation, traffic lights were changed slightly to allow more time for vehicles to clear the tracks.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said new relays were placed on the traffic lights, giving cars additional time to clear the tracks before lights turn red.

He said the controls were changed at all of the crossings and that the system was operating satisfactorily late yesterday afternoon.

The system which will control the Knox, Valley, Pear and Franklin street grade crossings was placed into service at 12:01 p. m. without formal ceremonies.

Present to watch the $118,500 installation go into action were Mayor Eves, Commissioners William J. Edwards and William H. Buchholtz and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Civil Service Board Named For County

The Allegheny County Commissioners yesterday named a temporary three-man Civil Service Commission to serve from June 1, this year, until the first meeting of the county commissioners in April of 1959.

Members of the board are J. Glenn Beall Jr., Frostburg, an insurance and real estate man; Woodward D. Pealer, city manager of the local Kelly Springfield Tire Company retail store; and William L. Wilson, local attorney. Wilson is the Democratic minority member of the commission. The other two men are Republicans. The legislature passed a bill at the last session providing for all county employees to be brought under Civil Service.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, who abstained from voting on the Civil Service Commission, later yesterday issued a statement explaining that he has no hesitation in favoring Mr. Wilson and Mr. Beall but could not concur in the third appointee, whom he did not mention by name.

His statement, in part, follows: "First, I would like to state that I have not been favored with any prior discussion of this matter by my fellow county commissioners, although I feel that the composition of the board which will supervise the County Merit System is of prime importance and deserves the serious deliberation of all the county commissioners."

"It is therefore certainly desirable to have individuals on the Merit System Board, who have had some prior experience in dealing with personnel problems, administrative organization or the interpretation of regulations and laws. The members should also be individuals who are not subject to the pressure of factional politics and must be persons who can bring a sense of fairness and impartiality to their decisions."

"Accordingly, I have no hesitation in favoring Messrs. William L. Wilson Jr. and J. Glenn Beall Jr. for membership on the board. However, I regret that I am unable to concur with the appointment of the other proposed member. I suggest that the county commissioners give mature thought to recruiting the third member of the board from among the personnel departments of the various industrial plants in this county, where there is a wealth of talented individuals who have had specialized training in personnel problems, involving seniority, job classification, and personnel evaluation. In this manner the county could obtain a well-rounded Merit System Board which would assure the efficient and impartial administration of the law. Our county employees are deserving of the best administration possible of a matter which is so important to them."

Bond Ordinance Ruling Sought In Court Suit

'Friendly' Action
Docketed Here

Owen E. Hitchins of The Dingle yesterday filed a "friendly" suit against the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland to test the legality of the ordinances passed to provide for the issuance of $500,000 in Cumberland Urban Development Bonds of 1957.

This suit, docketed in Allegheny County Circuit Court, was filed for Mr. Hitchins by Attorneys William C. Walsh and William Walsh. Named defendant specifically in addition to the Mayor and City Council is John J. Long, commissioner of finance and revenue, who would have the specific responsibility of advertising for sale of the bonds.

The first ordinance concerned with the "friendly" suit is Ordinance No. 2049, passed February 25 of this year, which undertook to provide for the issuance and sale of the $500,000 in bonds. This ordinance fixed May 21 as the date on which the bonds should have been sold.

Petitions Delayed Sale

After the ordinance was adopted a number of petitions requesting a referendum of Ordinance 2049 were filed with the Mayor and City Council. The Mayor and City Council on May 6 announced that there were not enough signatures of qualified voters to warrant a referendum.

Because of the controversy over the possibility of a referendum it was impossible to sell the bonds on May 21, Mr. Hitchins' suit states. Consequently on May 27 the Mayor and City Council by Ordinance No. 2057 undertook to amend Ordinance 2049 to authorize the sale of the bonds at any time after 50 days from February 25, 1957, but not later than four years from that date.

The Hitchins suit also notes that William A. Gunter, local attorney, has filed another "friendly" suit against the Mayor and City Council contending that there were sufficient qualified signatures on the petitions to require the referendum.

Judge Signs Order

Mr. Hitchins' bill of complaint goes on to state that if Ordinance 2049, as amended, is defective and the bonds could not be issued legally, then the proposed referendum would be a complete waste of the taxpayers' money.

In compliance with this suit, Chief Judge George Henderson late yesterday afternoon signed an order restraining the Mayor and Council from holding a referendum on the bond issue or from sale or issuance of the bonds until the validity of the ordinances is determined.

Yesterday's action was taken as another test of the legality of the Home Rule Law of 1955.

Contracting Co. Is Low Bidder

The Cumberland Contracting Company yesterday submitted the apparent low bid of $34,110 for excavation work necessary for the expansion of the Allegheny High School athletic field.

This project calls for excavation of approximately 32,500 cubic yards of dirt on the hillside west of the present athletic field along Sedgewick Street.

The field will be extended some 150 feet westward to compensate for the loss of some 115 feet from the present field when the $954,000 addition to the school is constructed.

Included in the Allegheny High School expansion will be new classrooms, conversion of the present gymnasium to a library and classrooms and construction of a new gymnasium, locker and shower rooms.

The low bidder offered to complete the excavation work in 85 calendar days. Two other bids were received yesterday by the Allegheny County Board of Education. The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company bid $39,837 and offered to do the work in 90 days. The George F. Hazelwood Company bid $40,000 and 75 days for completion.

Present for the bid opening besides representatives of the three local contractors were Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, Joseph M. Miller, member of the County Board of Education, and Joseph T. Downey, supervisor of maintenance in the county schools.

No immediate action was taken on the bids.
